THE WINNERS AND LOSERS OF CENSORSHIP...

I caught the replay of the Senate Hearings on video game violence last night on C-SPAN. Even though it kept me up to three in the morning, I found this brief peek at how many groups view video game play to be most enlightening. While the majority of the speakers, including congressmen Kohl and Lieberman, managed to use the very descriptive forms of violence found exclusively in Night Trap and Mortal Kombat to lobby that all games should be judged the same.

While Nintendo put its best marketing muscle forward to describe the virtues of their approval process which, they claim, eliminates overt levels of violence in Super NES titles (except, of course, the 20,000 deaths that take place in a typical game of Smash TV) it wasn't until Sega representative Bill White explained, in essence, that any form of media, if taken out of context, could make the whole medium look bad - whether it's video games, television, music or movies.

I couldn't agree more.

While you have to applaud both sides for their individual stance on the issue of video game violence, and I personally agree that high levels of violence can't contribute positively to very young minds in any way, it shouldn't be the responsibility of government to form committees and spend money to tell game players what is and isn't permissible. Do the death sequences employed by Mortal Kombat have a stronger impact than the thousands of deaths that take place in Smash TV? Does that mean that video game terminations are permissible if conducted in low-res? If you're at the controls of a flight simulator and you go for a soda, subsequently causing the deaths of all 240 passengers on-board, will the government say that game should be played only by adults? Come to think of it, should Nintendo recall Super Mario World because it promotes the incineration of turtles? If PETA only knew.

I realize that I'm arguing a point to absurdity and that for most of us the questions surrounding video game violence are not quite this exaggerated. Night Trap shouldn't be viewed by younger players (even though they'd probably think it was cool), but that's why Sega put a rating on the front. Others will argue that the ratings do little to keep youngsters from playing the game, but since Night Trap, Mortal Kombat and most other titles cost slightly more than what your average 10-year-old has in pocket change, the purchasers of these products should exercise more caution when buying them. We can argue the definition of violence as it applies to video games, but at least Sega took the initiative to at least provide some information to parents and others making these purchases.

And it's with the companies that this issue should be debated, not in Senate chambers with congressmen who's only knowledge of the subject is gathered by their aides. For although the video game industry was given an opportunity to speak, the decisions related to video game violence and the government's role in the subject were made in Mr. Kohl's and Mr. Lieberman's minds way before C-SPAN got there.

This is the section where you can open up your mind and let the rest of electronic gaming know what you have to say! If we like what you write, we'll put it inside the pages of this magazine and try to spell your name right. If we don't like it, chances are it was up and hurt the paper, not us. Remember that anything you write and send to us can be used against you in a court of law. If you understand these rights then write us at: Interface, Letters to the Editor, c/o Sendai Publishing Group, 1920 Highland Avenue, Suite 222, Lombard, Illinois 60148. And if you think we're going to answer every letter that comes to our mailbox then you must be nuts...

LETTER OF THE MONTH!

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

I really love your coverage of all the latest game systems. I own a Sega CD, Duo, Super NES, NES, Neo-Geo and plan on getting a 3DO and a Jaguar sometime down the road. You have mentioned in the past the differences between the Japanese Mega Drive and our Genesis, the Super Famicom versus our Super NES, and the PC Engine versus our Duo. But what about the differences between these new systems, like the difference between the Panasonic 3DO and the Sanyo model? Have any other systems been changed between the U.S. and Japanese versions? This kind of information really fascinates me.

Jeff Bradshaw
Roanoke, VA

(Ed. It sure sounds like you plan on spending some serious cash in the future! OK, here we go. Yes, Sanyo is developing their own version of the 3DO. Aside from obvious exterior differences of the machine and controller, the Sanyo model is directly compatible with the already released Panasonic system. There's some surprising news, however. It seems that the Japanese are losing faith in the future of the 3DO as Sanyo has dropped all plans of releasing this system. This offers a clue to other developers, such as AT&T (who are also planning on backing out as well), that the future of the 3DO may not reach the high hopes everyone expected. As for the other systems, there are changes from country to country. Everyone already knows about the Sega CD and Mega CD incompatibility difference, so we won't dwell on that. The Game Gear and GameBoy haven't been modified so games made for the Japanese systems can be played on the American systems and vice-versa. As for any changes in upcoming systems, we'll let you know as soon as we know.)

All plans for producing the Sanyo 3DO player have been canned in Japan.

LASERACTIVE OWNER SPEAKS

This letter is in response to James Vincent's letter in the December issue of EGM. I wish to clarify some of the LaserActive bashing taking place. I own the system and have for a month or so. I feel I have the authority to speak about it for this very reason.

The CLD-A100 LaserActive system is not a gaming-only platform. About 50 percent of the games out at this time are quizzes, history lessons or interactive movies. This system uses a Laser Disc player as its main unit. What parent wants to buy a system for their kid if they can't comprehend the technology? I applaud Pioneer for this system! I favor its price which keeps away the rugrat, snotty-nosed, spoiled kids. After all, if a parent bought this system for a kid, it would be broken within a week and would have Cheez-Wiz all over it! You cannot argue without knowledge. Before any of you do, look at the big picture. LaserActive is interactive entertainment. This is not an 8, 16, 32 or 64-Bit system and I hope it stops being classified as one.

Derek Bullard
Lake Forest, CA

(Ed. Knowledge, eh? For your information, Derek, the LaserActive should be classified as an 8- or 16-Bit system because you need one of these inferior modules to play the LaserActive games, but I guess you already know that, right? You mention that you favor the price to keep it away from younger gamers. While it may be true that the price will keep these "snotty-nosed" players from buying the system, you have to remember that younger gamers are the bulk of the electronic gaming market. Anyway, the price is still out of the league of the average gamer. Those who want exclusivity with game systems must pay the price and are usually rewarded as such.)

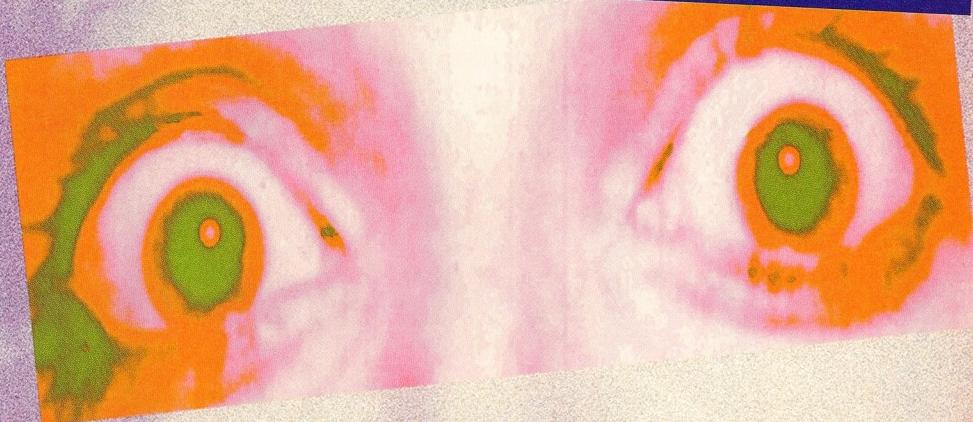

WIN A PAIR OF ACCLAIM JOYSTICKS!

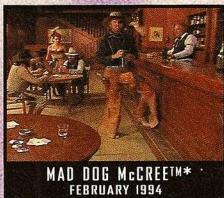

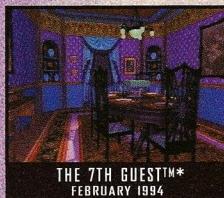

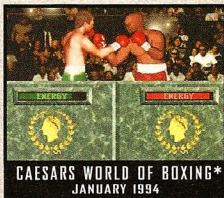

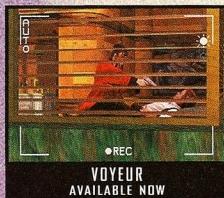

The best letter submitted each month will win his/her choice of either the Super NES or Genesis version of Acclaim's hot new Dual Turbo Wireless Remote System.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NEW LIFE FOR CD-i

I'm glad to see that you guys are starting to cover the CD-i and its games. I don't have this system, but I am thinking about purchasing one. I would like to know a few things about it before going out and buying one. First, what kind of processing power does it have? Second, I've seen CD-i players by Philips and Magnavox. Do any other companies make them and which of these companies offer the best deal for their CD-i system? Finally, I've noticed that many of the CD-i games I am interested in require the MPEG upgrade card to play them. How much does this upgrade cost?

Chris Koshgarian
Hampton, VA

Games like Space Ace offer incredible quality with the upgrade cartridge.

(Ed. We're happy to see the CD-i really peak as well. Although this system started life as an educational tool, there are some really good games coming out. The Philips CD-i has 16-Bit processors for quick number crunching. Magnavox and Philips offer CD-i players that are compatible with each other so there's no need to worry there. As for the best deal, simply shop around to see which store is wheeling and dealing. The upgrade card, which offers full motion video capability is what makes the CD-i the gem that it is. Although it costs about $250.00, the games that utilize this card are well worth the cost, like Space Ace, Mad Dog McCree and Caesar's Boxing. Be sure to turn to page 128 for our four page Special Feature all about the Philips CD-i and all the new games we'll be seeing in the coming months. The CD-i is offering serious competition to the Panasonic 3DO. The system price has been seen for $399.99, and although the upgrade cart boosts the price, it's still a great deal.)

PASS THE WORD

LETTER OF THE MONTH!

If you think you have what it takes to contribute to society, go write to Newsweek. If, however, you have a thought or opinion that fellow gamers would particularly find crazy, we'd love to immortalize you with a special edition EGM T-shirt proclaiming your fondness of and psychosis to video games!

I think Sega has gone too far. First they announce a rating system as an excuse to bring out a few super violent games like Mortal Kombat and Lethal Enforcers. Then they tried to really prove how much they are for violence. Don't get me wrong, I wish Super Nintendo was a little more liberal. But to purposely pop your Sonic balloon on Thanksgiving Day during the parade? No matter what people say, I know they meant to hospitalize and injure people. They were probably disappointed that they only got a small girl and a woman. It is time to take some action. What do you think?

A cartoon illustration of Sonic the Hedgehog popping a large red balloon. The balloon is labeled "SONICBALL". Below the balloon is a small envelope with the address: "Michael Page, 111 Belmont Rd., Redmond, WA 98053". To the right of the envelope is a small American flag.

We think you ate too much turkey while watching the Macy's parade. Anyway, congrats go out to Michael Page of Connell, WA, for his twisted interpretation of the Thanksgiving Parade. Maybe you should cut back on the stuffing, too.

BUYER'S GUIDE RESPONSE

Every year, I look forward to one thing; your Video Game Buyer's Guide. I really enjoy the systems reviews because it's great to hear how the competition like the 3DO and the Jaguar stand up to the Super NES and Genesis! Of course, nothing could top the Best and Worst awards. They're an absolute riot! Since I have every back issue, it doesn't really help me to see all those Fact Files again, but they do add to the magazine's quality. So what's new for 1995? Are there going to be new categories for the Best and Worst awards? There was one small problem though, the picture you ran of the cover in EGM 53 looks different than mine. My cover had a gold logo while yours showed a sparkly silver one. Is this a defect? If so, how can I get the right one?

Jack Falcors
Somerset, PA

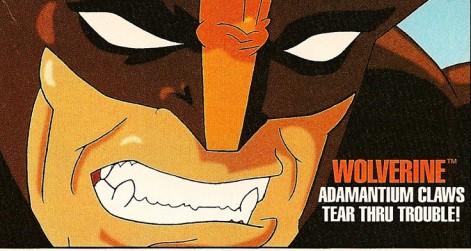

(Ed. It's really great to hear that kind of response to the Buyer's Guide. They are fun issues to do and consumer response is great. Naturally there will be more categories to add to the fun. The cover you have is not a defect, but is the one that goes out to consumers. The silver glitter cover was made exclusively to hand out to advertisers and companies. The print run of these issues was extremely low with no chance for a reprint. There are no more copies lying around the office so save your checks—we just don't have any to sell!)

IT'S A BOY!

Congratulations to Rebecca and Steve on the arrival of their son, J. Dylan Harris, born Dec. 13. From all the staff of EGM, we wish them the best of luck!

SAVE MY GAME

Role-playing games are a blast! I've purchased almost every one on the market for the Super NES and Genesis. The Secret of Mana is a great title and I also picked up Enix's Paladin's Quest a few days ago. I noticed something drastically different between my copy and yours. You guys stated that Paladin's Quest was not allowed to save games in your Good, Bad, Ugly box on the page. However, my version can save the game as I play it. I don't know what was wrong with yours, but it works just fine for me. The game is great and really does have some funny moments. I just wanted to clear up this little mess up.

Jack Boomis
Campbell, OH

No need to fear, Enix's Paladin's Quest can save games with the battery backup.

(Ed. Yes, it's true that the final copies of Paladin's Quest can save your progress in the game. The early E-PROM we received could not save games, a problem that is usually corrected on finished versions of games we receive. Perhaps the sentence could have been worded differently, but we didn't mean for it to sound like you couldn't save the game. Sorry for the confusion.)

IN NEED OF OLD GAMES

Do you know of any mail-order companies out there who still deal with some of the old classics for such systems as Atari and Colecovision? I have been searching everywhere and have written to every other magazine on the continent with absolutely no response whatsoever. You are simply my last hope. I realize these games are outdated and old, but I still enjoy the classics every once in a while just for the heck of it.

Paul Gruber
Ocala, FL

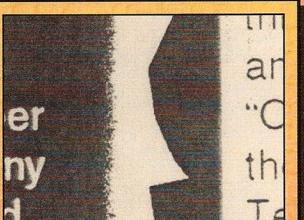

Finding old games like Pole Position II may be easier than you think!

(Ed. Old games, eh? Well, flipping through the pages of our magazine doesn't reveal any mail-order companies specializing in older games, so the only suggestion we can offer to you is to look through your local newspapers and check out the classified ads of people selling off their old games and systems. You can frequently stumble across families selling their old Atari systems, Intellivisions, ColecoVisions, Odysseys, and even ADAM Computers. All these ads even mention games for sale for incredibly cheap prices. You'd be surprised at the kind of deals you'll find! If newspapers don't offer much luck, stop by a video game trade show in your area. Maybe you won't get the cheapest price possible, but hey, many people will do anything to get their hands on these nostalgic systems and games. Happy hunting!)

BAD PHOTOCOPY CONTEST!

A new feature to EGM is the official Bad Photocopy Contest. You'll find this contest in every Interface issue. What we did was photocopy a part of the magazine, blow it up, oh, 800% and now it's up to you to find it somewhere in the magazine. You don't win anything, but you can congratulate yourself if you find it!

Here it is! Attempt to find this picture in the magazine, if you can!

THE RISING SUN RESPONDS

As a loyal reader of your mag in the Land of the Rising Sun, I would like you to explain a few things to us readers in Japan. First, why is there no Mortal Kombat in Japan? I have played games like NBA Jam and X-Men here (You can always tell an American arcade game because you have to stand up to play it), but what sounds like the best game in the States is nowhere to be found. Also, why does it seem that Ranma 1/2 has a fair number of fans but not Dragon Ball Z? I'll bet Sushi-X would agree that comics and animation of the long-running saiya-jin saga would do well in America and would also give the necessary background to show just how cool the Dragon Ball games are. Also, why does the PC Engine and Super CD-ROM kick butt in Japan, but the Duo almost never gets mentioned? Lastly, fellow vidiots and I have been using Hudson "Honeybee" adaptors to play Genesis games on the Mega Drive for about three years now, but when I put in Shining Force, nothing happened. Is there a new security chip in U.S. games and if I ordered Mortal Kombat, will it work on my Mega Drive using the Honeybee?

Stu Fonda
Aichi, Japan

The popularity of Ranma 1/2 can be attributed to the successful comic series.

(Ed. Whadaya mean there's no Mortal Kombat in Japan? In Ed's many trips to Japan, he has seen plenty of arcades with Mortal Kombat in them. Most machines do not have the blood and gore turned on as part of an effort to clean up the arcade scene, but yes, he's seen Mortal Kombat machines in Japan. Take a look around town, heck, there's practically an arcade on every corner anyway! Ranma 1/2 has really taken off in the States due mostly to what Viz Comics has done. By releasing a comic book series of Ranma 1/2 along with both dubbed and subtitled versions of the anime series, more and more Americans are being introduced to Japanese animation, and loving it! DTMC also did their part by releasing Ranma 1/2: Hard Battle, (Ranma 1/2 Part 2: Hard Battle to you) here in the States. It's a fun game that nearly every fan of the anime and comic series should definitely check out. Dragon Ball Z isn't as popular for just these reasons. No one has released a successful comic book series and Bandai seems reluctant to release the incredible Super Famicom version (Dragon Ball Z 2 looks even better!) for play here in the States. How unfortunate. The PC Engine is kicking butt in Japan because there is a steady flow of good games, especially with the upcoming Arcade Card, while the Duo suffers from a low quantity of titles, whether good or bad. As to Shining Force, no, it does not work on Mega Drives and unfortunately for you, Mortal Kombat will not work on a Mega Drive either. All you'll see is a black screen.)

EGM! SPECIAL ASSIGNMENT!

With the holiday season come and gone, many of you helped your parents decorate the house. But how many of you made your own decorations in the shape of video game characters? Send us pictures of your holiday decorations and we'll print the best right here!

Marianne, Ed and Michael Semrad pose behind their decorations.

Here's a panoramic view of holiday set-up. Impressive, eh?

POSTCARD PARANOIA!

The next time your parents drag you to some lame roadside attraction, be sure to pick up some of the tackiest postcards and send 'em in.

To take the sting out of springing real money for an ugly postcard, Sega has volunteered to give the winners one of their new six-button controllers and a Game Gear Carry-All case! Keep your eyes open as ugly can now pay off!

This month's winners are some real dogs. If you think you've got what it takes to top these winners, then break a pen and send your postcards addressed to Interface: Letters to the Editor.

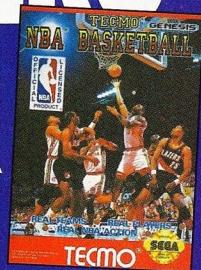

Psychedelic van, wow! Congrats go out to our first prize winner, Tim J. Andrews of Fairfield, CA. Peace, man.

I WANT MY MK2!

After flipping through the January issue of EGM, I nearly fell flat on my back when I saw all the cool moves for Mortal Kombat 2! I've played the game for a while and managed to figure out a few moves on my own, but that issue really helped me out. But there were some problems, though. Some of the characters' moves didn't work when I tried them out, especially the fatalities. I know there was a little sentence at the bottom of the special that said the moves were performed on a preliminary version of MK2, but when can we expect to see these tricks work on a final version? The game is an absolute riot and the blood is really intense! I know I can count on you guys to keep us updated. Keep up the great work!

Tom Alestar
Watertown, NY

Having trouble with the moves in MK2? Don't worry, the final machines are here!

(Ed. We realized the potential problem of these moves not working on every machine, that's why the disclaimer was put there. You see, Mortal Kombat 2 went through many changes before it was actually put into final production. The moves and fatalities that are listed, like Jax's Ground Slam and Mileena's Sai Shot, may or not be in Version 2.0, which is the final setup. It seems that Ed Boon and John Tobias, the creators of MK1 and 2, wanted the game to be challenging, with all the different fatalities to be complex, yet very rewarding for those who managed to get them to work. It would definitely get players to keep trying their hardest! The version you were playing was probably one of the early prototypes that had frequent changes to it, or was simply a testing mule to see consumer response. Many arcades still have these machines and will probably be updated in the coming months. It was no surprise that Mortal Kombat 2 is a real hit. So fret not. Version 2.0 should be trickling into arcades everywhere by the time you read this and if you find any tips or secret moves that we never printed, be sure to send 'em in! And be sure to watch for more arcade coverage in the coming months!)

This no-brainer basketball game is the most fun I've had in a long time. It's easy to pick up and play, plus there's lots of technique to master. The graphics and sounds are superb. When you play with four players, it's unbeatable. The spectacular jams and slamdunks make it even more than worthwhile. This is as close to a 10 as it can get for a sports game. Even if you don't like sports, you'll love this b-ball game...

DANYON CARPENTER

It's basketball with an attitude! NBA Jam absolutely rocks in the 'fun' department! No other game I've played offers this kind of fun for sports game haters like me. The game play is flawless with graphics and sounds straight from the arcade. The game is played best with four players since the computer can be a really rough opponent. If it's one thing I can't stand though, it's those wretched goal tending penalties.

AL MANUEL

Excuse the pun, but this game jams! This is one of the few sports titles I actually like and I can't stop playing it. It takes a lot for me to like a sports game and Acclaim has produced one of the most addicting sports titles I have ever played. The awesome slams and virtual no-foul rules are a total laugh riot! The fact that you can have your own personal record is cool, too. Again, excuse the pun, but this game jams!

SUSHI-X

This game actually got me out of the arcades. Normally I just don't get into sports titles, but this game is a blast! The most enjoyable part is the no-brain slams and jams. Even if you don't know how to play the game, you'll be doing all kinds of jams and blocks in no time. The graphics are tops and the sounds and speech really accent this great cart. Whether you're a ninja or armchair sports pro, you'll love to jam!

This couldn't wait 'till the 21st century.

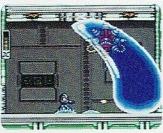

The "X" generation of Mega Man adventures is here.
For the first time on the Super NES.

As his last great creation, Dr. Light developed "X"—the first thinking, decision-making robot. Years later, Dr. Cain modifies his design to make thousands of supposedly "harmless" Reploids. That is until Sigma, the most intelligent Reploid of all, decides to lead the others in eliminating all humans from the planet. Now "X" must hunt down Sigma using his all-new arsenal, including the X-Buster and the awesome Emergency Acceleration System. It's the Mega battle of the next century, found only on the Super NES.

"X" uses his X-Buster to save Zero, the leader of the Maverick Hunters from the evil Vile.

When the robotic amoeba glues "X" to the ground, either he shoots or he's stuck.

"X" destroys an enemy submarine fuel tank and things get extremely explosive.

QUARTERMANN'S

Q-LETTER

GOSSIP FOR EGM SUBSCRIBERS ONLY!

Welcome back kiddies, to the new and improved Q-Letter for 1994! This is the one place to be for the inside scoop on what's happening inside and out the world of video games! We've got a bunch of the good stuff this month, including info on new hardware as well as a quick round-up on software in the only column that Congress deemed too saucy without a rating...Taking top billing this month in the gossip department is news that Sony's new game machine, code-named the PS-X, is rumored to have Ridge Racer as its pack-in! Sources close to the project tell the Q-Mann that it's a perfect translation and that other hot Namco coin-ops, including Galaxian 3, Solovolu, and Cyber Sled will also be programmed for the new system. Rumor has it that the Namco's so impressed with Sony's new dream machine that they are retooling their coin-op development exclusively around the hardware in much the same way SNK has turned their home unit into an arcade smash...I just love doughnuts and nougat...Speaking of SNK, Quartermann has learned that SNK will finally take the plunge and put their advanced CD-ROM upgrade for the NeoGeo on store shelves in Japan this April. It will have a 32-Bit upgrade, but will be used only in the consumer version of the hardware. Terry Aki, the Q's main man on the streets of Tokyo, tells yours truly that a U.S. release won't be far behind...Other new games from SNK include Samurai Shodown 2 in March, World Heroes 2 Jet (a faster version of the original), and the Survivor, a game that will probably have a name change but still deliver the ultimate fighting game. This 200 Meg beast will combine characters from all of SNK's previous fighting games for the final face-off...Hot rumor from the Sega front is that the company is putting their mascot, Sonic, out to pasture - at least sort of. White shirts from the vid game leader are saying that the release of Sonic 3 puts the finishing touches on the trilogy and that future releases will contain a different type of play mechanics altogether...In the face of new pressure from the Beavis and Butt-Head brigade on Capitol Hill, 3DO has backed off of its previous line of letting the market dictate the content of their games. More intense titles will now carry a "For Mature Audiences" sticker. Can't take the heat, eh boys...Look for other companies to become equally concerned about games with adult themes. Philips, the maker of the Joy of Sex and Playboy's Art of Sensual Massage, has built in a lock-out code into these games. The only way that younger folk can get them booted up is by plugging in the 4-digit code that M and P program in...

...More news from Sega...Besides the not so secret Saturn system, the word on the street is that Sega will be showing a portable Sega CD. Wowwwie! The wired-up version wasn't that great to begin with so how about forgetting about it and just skipping to the chase and getting the Saturn out in '94? The Philips portable CD game machine runs circles around the Sega CD anyway, so just give us the good stuff Sega...Look for plenty of new software to hit store shelves in the coming months. The Q-Mann has been undercover for the past few weeks at game developers around the country and managed to get the inside dirt on a number of titles that are sure to score some heat later in the year...Look for White Men Can't Jump from Trimark to try to go head to head with NBA Jam (tough call, since NBA is probably the best sports game ever created for the home market) as well as Evolver, which is based on an upcoming Trimark movie starring Brad Furlong from Terminator 2...On the 3DO front, Crystal Dynamics has their sights set on new 3DO fortunes with Star Control 2. Updated from the original Accolade release, this new version promises to have plenty of the full-motion and rendered graphics found in their earlier efforts...Also for the 3DO is Alone in the Dark by Interplay. Look for more companies to try their hand at the "interactive movie" concept as the full-motion platforms become more widely available...Interplay is also broadening their presence on other systems with Battle Chess for the Atari Jaguar. Other Jaguar games over the horizon include Race Driving and an updated rev of Pit Fighter...Finally, Enix is putting an end to the wait for two great sequels, including Actraiser 3 and Soul Blazer 2...TH*Q has grabbed the rights to WildC.A.T.s from Jim Lee (with Sculptured doing the design work), while Solid Soft-ware, the folks responsible for Bubsy, have a new action game under development called Morf...

...That wraps it up for this installment of the Quartermann section! Look for more info on upcoming games and gossip in the new issue of EGM, and tune in next month for a special announcement on the ultimate summer sequel...

- QUARTERMANN

QUARTERMANN'S TOP TEN REASONS WHY CONGRESSMEN DON'T WANT VIOLENT VIDEO GAMES...

The Q-Mann was in the inner chambers of Congress, peeking around a flower pot at the proceedings that Washington claimed would change the face of industry forever. While the big guns of gaming strapped on their bullet-proof vests, and fired first with an answer to the Washington white shirt's Q's, yours truly found out the real reasons behind the brohaha...

10. Cong. Kohl was upset after not being able to find his copy of Madonna's SEX.
9. Lieberman couldn't find Night Trap for his grandson, so he wants it banned.
8. Both congressmen were jealous that they couldn't package their BS as well as Konami boxed Lethal Enforcer.
7. The government really wants to force all games to also be made specifically for girls - of course Ranma 1/2 would be exempt.
6. Kohl just hates to see game characters sweat.
5. Someone has to run on the anti-violence ticket in '94. Of course real violence shouldn't be the issue.
4. Insect Politics.
3. Complaining about cartoon violence was getting old.
2. Congress felt this was the only way to create a level playing field - something Nintendo's marketing hasn't been able to do.
1. Hey, what better way to get on C-SPAN?

MEGA MAN X

THE Q-MANN GETS HIS HANDS ON THE SEQUEL THAT HE'S BEEN LOOKING TO PLAY FOR YEARS! MEGA MAN GOES 16-BIT, WITH GREAT RESULTS!

...The Q-Mann has always been a big fan of action games from the Mega Man mold, and this latest installment of the popular character lives up to my expectation! The game retains the same concepts that populated earlier efforts, including the process of defeating bad guy bosses and stealing away their special powers when they're knocked out. The graphics are definitely a step above anything that had been presented in the past on the 8-Biters, and many of the special effects contained in this animation-heavy adventure are really mind-blowing! Although the game suffers the same lack of challenge that's plagued earlier chapters of the Mega Man saga, it's still a fun ride, even if it goes by a little too quickly for me...

Q-MANN RATING:

CAPCOM'S ALADDIN

ALTHOUGH IT DOESN'T HAVE QUITE THE GLITZ OF THE SEGA VERSION, CAPCOM'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE SUPER ANIMATION GAMES IS WORTHY...

...Although the graphics and animation don't surpass the truly brilliant visuals found in the Sega version of Aladdin, this cart holds up well anyway. The action is fairly straightforward, and broken into a succeeding number of scrolling action scenes. Most of the game involves timing jumps and other moves and there's really very little in the way of one-on-one fighting. It's still a great game, with lots to look at and plenty to do...

Rabbit Rampage

Action	Release: Now
Levels: 10	12 Meg

This cart has all the right ingredients - great graphics, one of the best licenses in the world and lots of moves for Bugs Bunny. Although some of the game play can get frustrating at times, once you learn the play mechanics, the game becomes one of the best I've played in a long time. The scrolling is smooth and some of the comical animations are outrageously funny. Don't miss this excellent cart!

While the game can be a bit frustrating to play at first, Rabbit Rampage becomes very enjoyable once you get over the hump. The graphics are very cartoon-like and add to the atmosphere of the Bugs Bunny theme. There's loads of technique with lots of hidden rooms to discover. If you're a Bugs Bunny fan, this game is a lot of fun. But be prepared for some frustrating game play until you master it.

This Looney Tunes cart has some decent graphics, as well as some of the cool sounds from the cartoon series. The real bad part about the game is its poor game play. Bugs Bunny's high kick can be a very useless attack. At times you have to get very close to an enemy to kick him, but before you do, you're already in range of his punch. Totally unfair—just like some bullets you can't seem to avoid! Frustrating.

Once again Sunsoft brings out a game based on one of the craziest cartoons of our time. Great graphics and animations of Bugs Bunny and other known characters are commendable. Crazy sound effects of characters will surely remind you of the cartoon series. The only drawback I can find here is the game play. It takes a bit of time to get used to the controls. Overall, it's a very good game. What's up Doc!

Super NES Data East

Joe & Mac II

Action	Release: April
Levels: 18	8 Meg

Joe & Mac II is really good. It has the play control the first one lacked, and it sort of has an RPG feel to it. The addition of towns was a nice feature, plus the fact that you can find a wife and build up your cave is also really neat. The music and animation is a far cry from the first. It's really easy to get into this one folks. This is one of the better action games for the Super Nintendo. I highly recommend this cart.

Wow! I was completely taken by surprise with this one. Thinking it was just another mindless action game, Joe & Mac II proves that blending action and role-playing can make a great game. The graphics are absolutely stunning and the jungle tuns have a great beat. The levels are long and have interesting surprises, but they can also be rather bland in the action department. Overall, Joe & Mac II is a definite hit.

I really didn't care much for the first Joe & Mac mainly because of its poor game play. This sequel has really improved on that and also added a pseudo role-playing feature. There were other cool additions, like a map where you can play levels in any order and villages to visit where you can build on your quest. I totally got into it! The graphics and music have also taken a step forward. A truly fabulous game!

Better than the first Joe & Mac. This second version has many awesome animations of Joe and Mac and their evil enemies. Better graphics are a welcome improvement. More things to do like going around the market and buying items to help you through the game are appreciated, and the game play is excellent. Cool power-ups like spit to get rid of your enemies. Can I say...Woow!

Wolfenstein 3-D

Action	1st Qtr. '94
30 Levels	8 Meg

As it is, Wolfenstein 3-D is a good game that moves fast, and has a lot to explore. While there have been changes from the version that PC veterans know about, the cart is still a very good translation considering that Nintendo must have really had fun changing this one. Good music and huge mazes help keep you coming back for more and more. Overall, a very good game and worth buying.

Okay, so the blood was removed. Who cares? Then the voices were changed to English. It takes away some of the feel, but hey, this game is still a riot! Not many other games put you in the role of a gun-totin' soldier running rampant through a maze shooting guards and giant rats (oops, there's another change). The fun of the PC version is here and that makes this game a definite must-have for action lovers.

This is a pretty good translation from the PC. Most everything about the game remains intact including the various weapons, music and the huge labyrinths. Conversely, the missing elements of the game are Hitler and the Swastikas on the labyrinth walls, Nazis patrolling around and the German speech. The game play suffers a bit from its PC counterpart. Still it isn't a bad first-person shoot 'em up.

As one of my favorite games on the PC, this Super NES version almost has everything in the sense of the game play. As we know Nintendo has been known to be the "no violence" company. Many of the "bad" pictures and decorations has been taking out. Less gore takes out the game. The rotation and scaling may not be good as the PC, but it's a good translation. Sound effects are ok. But I still like this one.

Jim Power

Action	Release: Now
Levels: 8	8 Meg

Jim Power has a lot of cool elements to it. The diversity of game play and the challenge adds greatly to this title. The pseudo 3-D effect is just OK. Nothing really special. And why does the parallax scrolling go the wrong way? Another pet peeve of mine is that you are a one-hit wonder. This makes for frustrating game play. If you are up for a real challenge, Jim Power will give you just that. It's too tough for me.

Who needs drugs? Just play Jim Power. If the mind-boggling 3-D effects don't get you, the difficulty sure will. For the experienced players, the game is rewarding with extremely challenging levels, darn good music and those 3-D glasses. The 3-D effect works great, but your eyes will need a vacation. There's a lot of variety with shooter, overhead and side-scrolling sequences. This one is a toughie!

I didn't think a 3-D video game was possible, but the effect in this cart actually works! It's a neat feature, but you get a headache after awhile. Besides, the colorful graphics and music are fine without it. The character moves fairly well, but frustration kicks in when enemies come out of nowhere so fast that there's nothing you can do but take a mandatory hit. It's already a tough game. Why make it close to impossible?

Wait a second. Let me focus my eyesight. OK. The 3-D effects are cool especially with the 3-D glasses, but don't play it for a long time. Cool background scrolling is the anchor of the 3-D effect. Moving your character around is a piece of cake. The main factor I noticed is that enemies will come at you from nowhere, and you don't have the time to react. This game is too frustrating to achieve stardom.

Genesis Konami

Castlevania Bloodlines

Action	Release: Now
Levels: 6	8 Meg

Bloodlines is a great game in itself, but it seems too far detached from the Castlevania theme. The special effects blow away most other Genesis carts easily, especially the Tower of Pisa. It handles very well, and the choice of two different characters was a nice addition. The visuals are good, if not dark and gloomy. The Bosses are somewhat laughable, but they don't ruin the game. Try it, you'll like it.

Well, it looks like the Genesis got the game it always wanted. Was it as good as expected? Oh yes! This game dishes up all the best of the Castlevania series and serves it on one great platter. There's more blood here than you can shake a Congressman at and the play control is superb. The Bosses really are a sight to see. They're beautifully animated and extremely cool to fight. This one is a toughie!

Konami was due for another Castlevania title and comes up with yet another winner in Bloodlines. This cart has all the great graphics and sounds that Konami is known for. The option of choosing between two characters is cool plus their special abilities and attacks are also great. The huge Bosses have some of the coolest attacks and special effects. This game is a must-have for Genesis owners.

I admit it. Konami is the king of Castlevania games. Bloodlines is another awesome game from start to finish. Incredibly detailed graphics is one of the things I noticed. Also the sounds are truly Konami style. Excellent! Animations and special effects of enemies that I never seen in a game before are really, what you say "awesome!" Very cool weapons you can pick up. Put me on the wait-list for this one.

Dashin' Desperadoes

Action	Release: Now
Levels: N/A	8 Meg

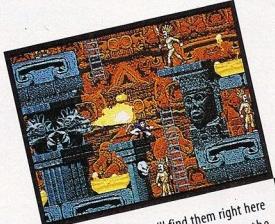

Dashin' Desperadoes is a strange game indeed. I like it in a perverse sort of sense. The comical characters have some neat animations. The whole game is one continual race. I especially like the Boss, where you must stop the car to save your girl. The Two-Player Mode is a welcome feature. This cart has limited appeal, but it is fun. If you are looking for a cart that's different, you might like this one.

Dashin' Desperadoes definitely gets points for originality. The idea is simple: race your opponent to see who gets the girl. It's a simple concept that is surprisingly fun to play. Lobbing bombs at your opponent or picking up other items adds to the all-out action! The game is 100 times more enjoyable with two players since the computer can easily kick your butt. The game can be too repetitive after a while.

This is a weird game, but that's okay with me. I like games with a little originality, especially this one. I like the comical theme behind it with the two characters racing in competition for a girl. The graphics are nice and the music paces the humorous theme, I feel the cart really excels in the two-player simultaneous mode, but isn't much fun with one player. Although it's original, it can get boring after a while.

I don't know about you, but this is obviously going in the "I don't know what type of game" column. One thing for sure, it's something different. Race for a girl? Well anyway, if you think of it this way it's actually a good game. Delay your competitor by throwing bombs at him. A very good two-player game that may last for a couple of hours. A cool concept that may be good for parties. It could use more weapons.

Jammit

Sports	Release: May
Levels: N/A	16 Meg

Jammit is nice because it is different from all the other basketball games out there. On the other hand, it gets boring because what you can do is rather limited. The voice is so-so and the control is slightly above average. Jammit's graphics are somewhat cool, albeit very dark. This is one of the better b-ball games for the Genesis. It does need more players for you to choose from. This cart is pretty cool.

Reminiscent of the old C-64 game (Jordan vs. Bird) Jammit tries to be a tough one-on-one basketball game, but lacks in a few key areas. The voices, while having a street-type attitude, sound really raspy and would be better off gone. The game plays pretty well, but could use some tweaking to get it right. With two players, it's great competition since the computer can make a shot from practically anywhere.

I really had a hard time trying to get into this game. There were too many rough spots in it. First, the talking voices and music really wore on me (luckily you can turn them off). The graphics were too jagged and the play control needs to be tweaked out. On the plus side, you can choose from three different h-pal players and play on different courts. Hardcore b-ball players might like this. Nice try!

I was really disappointed. What are they trying to do? I kept playing to give it a chance and to give this a fair review, but I just couldn't get into it. The graphics are need work and the sounds are very poor. The trash talking was funny, but the whole concept is thrown out the window. You can't even control your dunks. Nice bricks, too! Not the most impressive basketball game out there.

Ground Zero, Texas

Shooting	Release: Now
Levels: N/A	CD-ROM

This has got to be the best Sega CD game I've ever played. It handles great, and there's a lot to keep you glued to your TV. Just where did they dig up those lousy actors though? One thing I definitely didn't like was the part where you had to put the code in or you blow up. Remembering the shapes while blasting aliens is pretty tough. Overall this is the best Sega CD game you can probably consider.

Sega must be trying to get the award for the most live-action games around. Ground Zero is probably one of the better ones out. The story line is very good and the scenes have enough randomness to them to throw off the monotony. The acting, as usual, was B-movie all the way, complete with cornball dialogue. If you're into these games, this one's decent, but this concept is drying up.

Out of all the Sega CD games with live-action, I would have to say that this is the best of them all. Even though the overall plot is nothing new, it's still pretty interesting. The graphics are decent and the music sets the tone of each scene. The actors could have been better and the dialogue was corny at times. The game is easy to learn, but moving a cursor with the pad can be a terrible way to shoot the enemy.

As more CD games are coming out, the games get even better. Like the other live-action games, Ground Zero, Texas is much better laid out in the sense of the footage of the game and the actions you have to do. Very cool sequences that are quite detailed. The music and sound effects set the tone of the game—spooky. Shooting with the pad can get frustrating. It would be cool if you had gun or other weapon.

3DO Virgin

Night Trap

Action	Release: Now
Levels: N/A	CD-ROM

So this is the game that scared Congress. Hmmm. When compared to the Sega CD version, it's easy to tell that this one is much better. The wider screen and the clear picture help you see the action better. It also plays infinitely better. You can easily trap the thugs this time. The timing is much better. Overall the game gets boring after continual play, but if you like seeing B-movie action, you'll like Night Trap.

Night Trap was a great looking game on the Sega CD but this version just blows it away! Less pixelization and a bigger screen may not seem like much but it is an improvement. Simply go around and suck the blood from women... oh, sorry. I don't know where I heard that story. Anyway, the game plays great and has less access time when switching rooms. But on top of all this, the game is getting old, quickly.

3DO outdoes the Sega CD version by a wide margin with its own version of Night Trap. The sounds remain the same. But at first sight, it's obvious to see that the graphics are much cleaner because of the high color palette. The game play has also improved and 3DO owners who have never played this will find the interface simple to use. Like most of the live-action games, I found the acting poor. A good 3DO addition.

You've got to admit, 3DO's graphics are far superior to the 16-Bit machines. Even though Night Trap is an old title, the 3DO machine really enhances the graphics and sound. It seems like every CD system is coming out with a live-action game. I don't know about you, but I've noticed in all of these live-action games all of the actors seemed like they were only paid one dollar for their acting. Good game though.

Amiga CD Mindscape

D/Generation

Shooter Release: Now

Levels: 125 CD-ROM

This game is addicting, fun and a bit gory. The graphics of the main character are a bit cheesy, but the backgrounds are really detailed. It's a nice combination of puzzles with action. The many traps will test your mind and your reflexes. The control is sometimes a little "iffy" because the perspective and the controls are a tad off. This game has the cyber-punk look to it and it comes off really well.

I don't know how this one compares to the PC version, but on the Amiga, it's pretty cool. The game is different from anything else I've played. Running through a building saving people from blobs is quite fun. The control is awkward since you must move diagonally and the controller doesn't accomplish this very well. D/Generation is an easy game to get into and delivers hours of fun, once you get the hang of it.

D/Generation is one of the better games for the Amiga CD. I like the unique blend of action and puzzles throughout each level. The CD music is well done and matches the action and the theme. The story is thought-out well and plunges the player further into the game. I think the graphics could have been done a lot better. My main beef is the awkward setup of the pad to move the player. Cool though.

Out of the first batch of Amiga CD titles, D/Generation is one of the better games I played. The graphics aren't really up to the Amiga CD's capability and the controls were awkward at times. But if you get past that, D/Generation has game play that is a nice combination of action, puzzle and strategy. Once you start playing, it's hard to put the controller down as you try and complete just one more level.

Jaguar Atari

Cybermorph

Shooter Release: Now

Levels: 50 5 Meg

I did not really care for this first generation game. It did not fully utilize the power of the Jaguar. Maybe I just expected too much of this machine, but could there at least have been some music during the game? The whole point of collecting pods didn't hold my interest very long, but the virtual world was a cool idea that could be vastly improved on in future games. Overall, I'm a bit disappointed with this one.

I'll have to admit that I expected more from the all-powerful Jaguar, but this is a first-generation title. Cybermorph offers some cool features like nicely shaped polygons and non-linear movement, but the sound effects were horrible and Skylar was a nuisance. The idea of finding pods on the planet got old quickly. There was a lot of strategy involved in making Cybermorph a decent first title.

I wasn't at all impressed with Cybermorph. Although it is on a 64-Bit system, with some neat effects, they really was nothing about it that was exciting. Collecting pods scattered throughout the terrain became a bore. There was no music at all during the game and the onboard computer's voice got pretty annoying. You couldn't adjust your ship's altitude. With some tweaking, this could be decent.

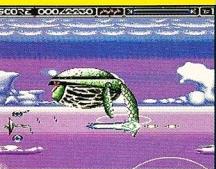

My first impression was that the sound wasn't turned up because the effects were so subdued. After you get through the tiny intro music, you are left with simple beeps. While the graphics are OK, the game play isn't exciting enough to keep you coming back for more. Part of the disappointment was the high expectations and power of the system. I don't enjoy these flight simulators and this wasn't done very well.

Duo T.T.I.

Terraforming

Shooter Release: Now

Levels: 8 CD-ROM

Terraforming is a shooter with no real appeal to me. The music is good, but it's a CD game. The graphics are really cheesy, and the Shower Curtain Boss really takes the cake. I'm sorry. I'm a big fan of the Duo, but this game just doesn't cut it at all. It plays about average. The only redeeming feature is that you can use your thrusters as a weapon. Too bad T.T.I. this game could have been much better.

Terraforming is T.T.I.'s latest release? C'mon, guys! This game is completely dull and boring. Shooters are known for wild power-ups. While they're nothing spectacular, there are a lot of them making you nearly invulnerable at times. The music is a joke. Many of the tunes don't even match the levels they're for. This could have been a good game two years ago, but the Duo is dying quickly.

Shooters are one of my favorite types of games, but Terraforming is one shooter I just couldn't get into. Aside from the ability to use your ship's thrusters as a weapon, there really was nothing unique about the game. Most enemies looked alike and there were probably four different types of enemies per level. Nice variety. The CD music didn't even match the levels of the game, and lacked intensity. Sorry.

I just couldn't quit playing this game. I played through level after level hoping that there would be some awesome power-ups or something like Gate of Thunder. The game had simple patterns to defeat the enemies and bosses which made the game play more pattern oriented and less action packed shooter. It's a decent CD type game with good sounds but it needs a better feel and some unique weapons.

Are you a Sega-maniac? Or an SNES success? Would you rather duke it out in the street? Or at an altitude of 30,000 feet?

Why just play games, when you can live them? Forget those digitized cartoons, Sega TruVideo™ games use real video footage. Meaning the action in the games is real. So's the rush of adrenaline you get while playing them. These aren't video games as you understand them. They're more like Hollywood movies, only you control the plots. And they have CD quality sound effects and music tracks, adding to the realism. So, when someone screams, it sounds

DOUBLE SWITCH™—
You find yourself in a turn-of-the-century mansion full of surveillance cameras, traps, shady characters and unexpected secrets. It's rumored there's treasure buried somewhere, but no one knows for sure. You control the plot as the mystery of this mansion unravels.

JOE MONTANA NFL FOOTBALL™—It's game day and you're calling the action. You choose your team—you have access to all 28 teams and stats. You choose your plays—TruVideo™ Joe Montana will help you. And there are four different field views, creating endless hours of gridiron action.

PRIZE FIGHTER™—This interactive movie game is played entirely from your point of view. Land a punch and watch as your opponent reels. Take a punch, your screen rocks. Take too many punches, you're flat on your back—looking up at the ref as he gives you the count. Don't forget your mouthpiece because this is classic interactive boxing at its best.

GROUND ZERO, TEXAS™—Aliens disguised as humans are ready to exterminate the entire human race. It's up to you to stop them. Uncover their plot, figure out how to kill them (man-made weapons only stun them) and annihilate their forces before it's too late. But be careful. Screw up and you'll be reduced to subatomic particles of radioactive fallout.

MAJOR MIKE'S GAME ROUNDUP

Fatty Bear's Birthday Humongous / 300

This is a lot like the Putt-Putt games in that they are definitely geared for the younger players. Fatty Bear's is more of the same—learning and making cutesy things. If it is a toss-up, though, go with Putt-Putt.

Trevor McFur Atari / Jaguar

For one of the first games for the new Atari Jaguar system, Trevor is very disappointing. The graphics are very nice, but the game is not very challenging, not to mention the controller cramps your hand. Surely they can do better.

ED DANO AL SUSHI MIKE

Ms. Pacman Namco / GameBoy

Yes, she's back in a game that is identical to the arcade. You know the point: run around and eat, eat, eat your way to victory. Fans of the arcade classic will surely want to pick this one up. This is a simple, fun game.

Pinball Dreams GameTek / Game Gear

Pinball never really worked well on portable systems and Pinball Dreams is no exception. The boards are huge, but the game is a little slow. Plus, what exactly is that bat/snake thing on the one pinball board? I'm clueless!

RoboCop Vs. The Terminator Virgin / Game Gear

RoboCop vs. The Terminator for Game Gear holds up pretty well, however, this one suffers from some slowdown and a horrible case of breakup. The voice digitization is very good, yet the game is a little difficult.

Cliffhanger

Action Release: Now

Levels: 4 2 Meg

Cliffhanger is a feeble attempt with a license. The graphics are very poor, even when compared to other 8-Bit games. The audio grates on your ears, and the control is not even worth mentioning. The NES can do more than this. Cliffhanger comes off as a first generation game, but with more softs like this, it'll be the last generation. This game needs an overhaul to be even somewhat palatable. Very poor.

Cliffhanger was a decent flick, but this wimpy 8-Bit version doesn't even compare. The graphics are far below NES standards. But even worse, the game just isn't any fun! There's way too much dead space since you only see about one enemy at a time and everything is just way too tiny. The control needs a serious overhaul due to too much lag time. Games like this won't bring the 8-Bit back from the grave.

Cliffhanger is not a good game and let me tell you why. First, it is one of the most frustrating games as far as cheap hits go. There's a delay in play control which hampers your ability to avoid the hits. The graphics look as though this is one of the first games for the NES. The music and sounds are as annoying as fingernails scraping a blackboard. The only redeeming quality of the game is that you can turn it off.

What is going on with this game? I know it's NES but even for 8-Bit this thing is far behind its time and capabilities. Why you ask? Well the graphics look like early 8-Bit, the sounds are just blips and beeps, and the game play just doesn't work at all. There are plenty of other good games for the NES like Battletoads and this one just falls way behind the system's expectations. Like the movie, this was a letdown.

GameBoy

Nintendo

Kirby's Pinball Land

Pinball Release: Now

Levels: 3+ 4 Meg

Kirby's Pinball Land is one of the best pinball games I've ever played. The GameBoy screen blurs very badly however, and the little ghost is sometimes invisible because of it. There are a lot of cool features that remind me of Pinball for the NES. Lots of hidden things make me want to go back to it, and it even gives you a chance to recover a lost ball. If not for the blurring, this would've gotten a nine.

Pinball games seem perfectly designed for the portable systems. It's an easy concept, has loads of possibilities and when you throw in the adorable Kirby, the game is just too fun! This game plays great and there's loads of cool stuff to find. The usual drawback to fast moving games on the GameBoy is the blurring. Kirby just blurs so much when moving that you can lose track of him.

This is one of the better pinball games for any system. Kirby's Pinball Land takes one of the cutest video game characters and has implemented it in a very good pinball version. I like the three different pinball boards and that you can travel from board to board during the game. Each level has cool animations, but it's kind of hard to appreciate them when there's so much blurring on the screen. It's great, otherwise!

OK GameBoy, green is an annoying look to have to play anything on yet, I just can't help but like that puffy little Kirby guy. If you have to take a portable with you, this one is cute and quite addicting. Normally I don't care for video pinball, but this has decent graphics and sounds for the little green machine. Features like second chance balls, moving targets and multilevel play make it a more than bearable cart to tote.

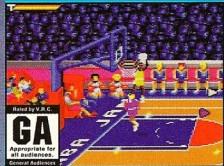

Game Gear

Arena

NBA Jam

Sports Release: Mar

Levels: N/A 2 Meg

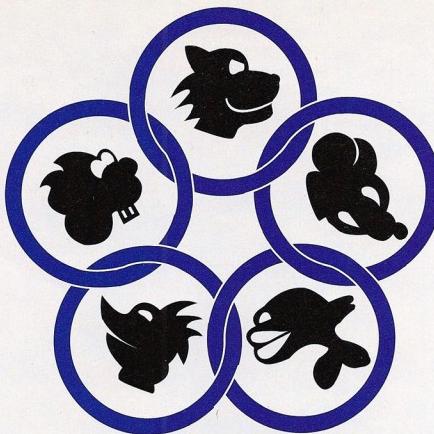

What can I say?... this sized-down version is great. Like the Super NES and Genesis versions, NBA Jam contains a lot of cool tricks and strategies it to make it play very well. The game moves fast, maybe a little bit too much so. With the small screen, the ball gets lost in the action a bit. I like how it plays, but my eyes get googly after a while. I seriously recommend this cart if you have a Game Gear.

Fantastic! I didn't think this game could be done well on the Game Gear, but it is great. The computer really dishes up some good strategies for winning. The control is great and the graphics are really crisp and clear. The sounds, however, are disappointing. The annoying whistles and squeaks when shooting the ball take their toll on the ears. Overall, this game will definitely please fans of the arcade while on the go.

Although the Game Gear has some limitations, this game does come off fairly well from a standpoint of arcade translation. Compared to other GG games, the graphics are decent and the game plays very well. It's too bad that most of the awesome jams had to be taken out. The play-by-play announcing had to be omitted because of memory problems. Any GG owner who loves basketball will love this game.

This just doesn't have the impact that the SNES and Genesis have. Sure it isn't a 16-Bit system and can't be compared, but it's the features like the super jams and slams that made this game a hot commodity in the arcade and 16-Bit formats. The graphics are decent and the sounds are complemented with the play-by-play, but it needs that edge to push it above average. It does play well though and is a worthwhile title.

Yours truly went out of his way this month, my Quarter-Friends, for the straight scoop on the hottest news for hardware heads! While we'll uncover the latest from Sony, the Q also kept his ear to the ground and came up with some special info on Nintendo's upcoming super system and a Wonder-Mega update! So recharge your Ray-O-Vacs and sit back for the good stuff...Hot on the Q's list of heavy hitters to be is Sony's new PS-X mega machine, which not only promises advanced polygon technology and RISC processing (the latest catch-phrase in every new game system's arsenal of engineering tricks), but also promises to have some major software muscle backing up its release. This is a major coup for Sony, which hopes to have the game systems in front of everyone by the end of the year...

...Speaking of other software releases tied to new mega-systems, the Q has learned that the might 'N has already busted open the design team of the Mario adventures and plotting has already started for the fifth entry in the series. The new Mario 5 is expected to debut as the pack-in for the Project Reality machine in '95, and, according to a source deep within Nintendo, it will take advantage of PR's rendering and modeling capabilities to create Mario worlds unlike anything that has ever been seen before...Also due from the Nintendo front is a monstrous 32-Meg update to last year's Super NES hit, Star Fox! The sequel is expected to get the bow at the Summer CES with an in-store target date of X-Mas '94. The preliminary specs are scorching, with two-player simultaneous action and a real environment that let's you fly within and around three-dimensional objects, a la Atari's Steel Talons...

...The boat is rocking on the 3DO, and from what the Q has heard, the waves are only going to get higher! Look for an enhanced 3DO that incorporates all of the advanced architecture that wasn't ready when the machine launched last year to hit stores sometime in '94, as well as a broadening emphasis on the console as an enhanced game machine that can play movies and more...Yours truly has also heard that some of 3DO's partners are getting edgy about the initially slow sales of the $700 super system. While the Q still feels it's a little too early to tell, considering the majority of the slick softs won't appear until later in the summer, the company did delay another stock offering as the company's market value continues to plummet. Unless 3DO is successful in either a) lowering the price of the machine or b) expanding what it can do, the unit could stagnate even further...

...Still more new release info for tech-heads on the hardware horizon. JVC's lost shadow, the Wonder-Mega, is expected to hit stateside later this year with a new shell and a new name (the X-Eye). Packed-in with the new Mega will be a Compton's Interactive Encyclopedia (informative), a CD+G Karaoke disk (interesting), and a new Sega CD game release (entertaining). JVC is ramping up to make educational games a focus for the new machine but, c'mon fellas, get a clue from 3DO! You can't enter the games market with a hunk of hardware that costs more than the television it played on!...The Q-Mann rates the C-SPAN debate over violence in video games: The Winners - Bill White, who coolly weathered the storm as the spokesman from that vile and evil game company called Sega that was trying to exploit women, corrupt young children and bring about the general destruction of society as we know it! The Q loved your performance, Bill, and you took some great jabs at the big 'N while you were at it (who cares if he shook the congressmen's hands first!). The SPA also scored some points against the Big 'N by defending you, but then again, Nintendo spotted a conspiracy (hat)...The Losers: Howard Lincoln. This guy is the consummate white shirt, and his defense of the video game industry suddenly became a PR speech for Nintendo! Anyway, the Q did enjoy the comment about the Super Scope being used for shooting targets (who cares if they're the kind of targets with exploding heads!)...All in all, it was a great four hours had by all!...

...Elvis is dead, Juli, cope with it...That does it for the latest wave of the Quartermann attack, so load the photons and hit hyperspace, it's time for the Q-Mann to fly...

SEGA DEBUTS PORTABLE CD!

If you think the Sega CD will just curl up and die when the mega hot Saturn comes out, think again! In a very bold move, Sega has just debuted a new portable Genesis and Sega CD combo unit. Called the Genesis CDX, Sega's new mini system will be small in size but large in performance.

First the specs. The new lightweight Genesis CDX will be only 7.8" wide, 5.5" deep and 1.8" high. It will only weigh about a pound and a half! None of the Genesis or Sega CD specs, like resolution, color palette etc., will be different from the existing systems.

The Genesis CDX combines the Sega CD and Genesis in one portable unit.

The bad news is that there isn't a screen with the unit—so don't throw away your Game Gear quite yet!

So what good is the system? Unknown. You can use it as a portable CD player. But since it costs so much, I wouldn't want to be bouncing it around a lot.

It will be available in March for about $400. Ouch!

JVC INTROS U.S. WONDERMEGA!

JVC has just announced that they will be bringing out an American equivalent of the Japanese Wondermega.

Technically called the RG-M10 and officially named the X'EYE, the new system will play both Genesis cartridges and Sega CD discs. Besides the games, the X'EYE will also play karaoke, CD+G and audio CD discs.

Players will like the new sleek style and the all-in-one Genesis and Sega CD system, but it goes well beyond just a nice looking system. For those players looking for superior audio from their games, the X'EYE has an exclusive 1-Bit PEM D/A converter which offers an eight-times over-sampling digital filter. This allows for cool effects like echo and bass enhancement.

JVC plans to market the X'EYE as more than a game machine, as included with the system will be Compton's Interactive Encyclopedia! A CD+G Karaoke disc and a Sega CD game will also be packed in.

The system should be in the stores around April with a suggested list price of $499.95.

JVC will bring out the X'EYE, the U.S. equivalent of the Wondermega in 1994!

SEGA CHANNEL IN HOMES NOW!

In a special agreement between Sega of America and Time Warner Entertainment Company, the Sega Channel was born. This special station makes possible a menu of 50 games to its users. From action games to sports titles, all types will be available through a selection on a menu.

What do you need to play your choice of 50 hot carts? A special cartridge that plugs into your Genesis is all you'll need. Of course, your cable system has to offer the Sega Channel.

When? There are 12 test markets already, and the Sega Channel will go nationwide this fall. Finally, the station will go international in the winter of this year!

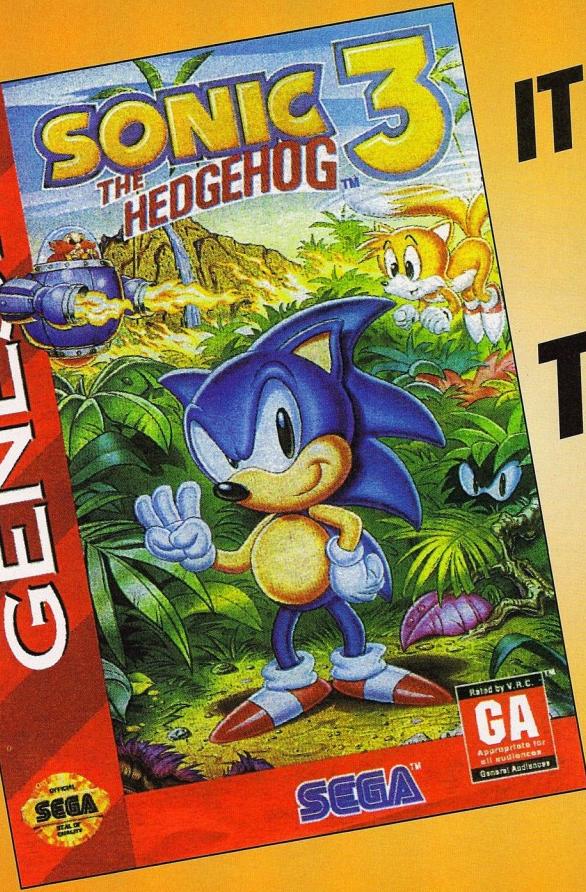

Another question you might have is: How much is this going to cost? The Sega Channel will be priced in the same range as regular premium channels. So it shouldn't be too expensive.

Just think, 50 games, some before they're released in stores! Pretty soon players everywhere will enjoy all the great Sega games. Wow!

Sega is ready to roll out the Sega Channel to cable systems this month!

ARCADE-QUALITY JOYSTICKS FOR THE SUPER NES, GENESIS AND NEO•GEO!

Gamers tired of their pack-in controllers and wanting something more (closer to the arcades) out of their gaming experiences may want to check out what the California-based Neo-Geo owners will definitely want to check out the MS Systems joystick!

MAS Systems is offering. Although MAS Systems is a relatively new company, they have researched the video game industry for over 10 years, learning what gamers like, dislike and what they would like to own. The result is a line of peripherals completely made in the USA, using only the finest components available. Suffice to say the two joysticks here can only be described as two of the best ever released and are things no "serious" gamer should be without.

The first is the Neo•Geo joystick, which retails for about $79 and has the standard four-button configuration of the pack-in as well as a Slow-Motion button and four turbo buttons to eliminate having to rapidly tap away. After playing a few rounds of King of the Monsters 2, Fatal Fury Special and Samurai Shodown, you'll never go back to the pack-in controller again! All of these games played better than with their pack-in joysticks, especially King of the Monsters 2 when you have to rapidly press the button to get up after having been knocked down. (You are saved the trouble of having to rapidly tap the button by simply turning the Turbo button on). The best aspect of this joystick is its sturdy design—especially the way the stick quickly re-centers after each movement. Even after hours of intense play, the joystick held up beautifully and still remained incredibly responsive.

Mai Shiranui totally toasts Duck King in Fatal Fury Special! She's bouncy!

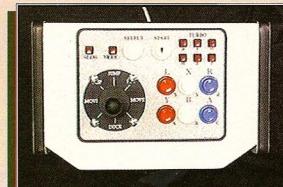

The Neo-Geo is not the only system to be blessed with fine joysticks from MAS Systems. There is also one that is compatible with the Super NES and Genesis systems. Like the joystick for the Neo-Geo, this one is equipped with Turbo buttons, Slow Motion and Mode buttons for Genesis games that are only three-button compatible (much like the one on the side of the Genesis six-button controller). Some games worked better than others. Not surprisingly, the arcade conversions worked best. Street Fighter II Turbo can be played the way it was meant to be. Dragon

Mike's Dragon Breath is simple to do with the MAS stick in TMNT: TF.

Punches, Fireballs, Hurricane Kicks and other special moves can be executed flawlessly on both the Super NES and Genesis platforms. However, games that went directly to the home systems took a bit of practice. TMNT: Tournament Fighters for the Super NES was one such game. Some of the moves took a lot of practice to do (like Mike's Ball Attack and Rising Thunder) others were simple to do with the joystick (like Mike's Dragon Breath fireball) yet hard to do with the pack-in Super NES joypad. The Super NES/Genesis joystick shown here costs $105 or $85 without the Slow Motion and Turbo functions.

These joysticks don't come cheap, but for arcade fans, they are a dream come true! For more information on these and other arcade-quality peripherals, call MAS Systems at (714) 831-5760 or write them at 25825 Via Lomas #206, Laguna Hills, CA 92653.

MAS Systems also has an arcade-quality joystick for the Super NES and Genesis.

RAIDEN II by Fabtek

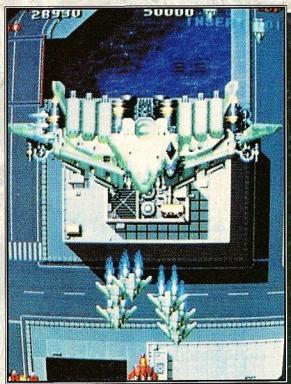

You'll be blown away by the selection of deadly weapons at your disposal.

Power-ups and weapons enhancements can be found throughout the game.

RAIDEN II

Some of the levels contain more than one Boss, each with its own strategy.

If you were to list the all-time greatest arcade games in history, you'd probably omit the original Raiden. However, you would be wrong to leave it out because the original Raiden has been on the charts since September, 1990! Because of its fantastic success,

Fabtek has followed up this arcade legend with Raiden II, and it looks to be every bit of the legend as its predecessor! A vertical-scrolling shooter, Raiden II can be played by either one or two players simultaneously.

While it is a challenging game, Raiden II is not overly difficult. As a matter of fact, Raiden II employs a kind of self-adjusting difficulty level which will change according to the player's ability! This will allow both the advanced and the novice players to enjoy the game equally.

There are eight levels, each of which has a different Boss. Some of the levels even have multiple Bosses, each having its own unique attacks and weapons. This makes for exciting game play because you must learn the technique to defeat each one.

There are lots of goodies to pick up in this shooter, too! You can get bombs, missiles and lasers as well as the devastatingly powerful cluster bombs. With a few of these puppies under your belt, you're ready to rock and roll against the enemy!

The sounds and graphics have been improved, too! Particular attention has been given to the smallest of details to give Raiden II a highly polished look and feel. The game plays like a dream! The control is totally outstanding and is limited only by the player's ability. Fabtek has done a great job recreating one of the all-time greats of the arcade!

Lift off with the sequel to one of the most popular games in arcade history!

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Welcome back to another sidebar chock full of news. It's me, Terri Aki, once again digging deep and going behind the scenes to glean every bit of info I can for my loyal readers.

There are two big stories this month. The first is a look at Bare Knuckle 3 (AKA Streets of Rage 3 to you). This mega-hot sequel looks to be the best fighting game in a long while. It redefines the capabilities of the Mega Drive. Whew!

The second story is the upcoming release of Final Fantasy VI. This 24-Meg installment in the magnificent line of RPGs is 10 times better than parts four and five. Also on the way is an anime simply entitled Final Fantasy. There's more about it up ahead.

Other games that are in the works include Kikkaikai 2, the sequel to what we know as Pocky and Rocky. Natsume is making this one better than the first.

Nintendo announced Super Metroid (Finally! It's about time!). It clocks in at about 24-Meg.

Taito is bringing the classic Space Invaders to the Super Famicom in a new cart called Space Invaders: The Original Game. Overall, there are more games than ever to enjoy!

Axel, Blaze and Sammy—the fearless heroes of Streets of Rage 2—are back for another butt-kicking crusade to rid their town of vermin. (Bare Knuckle is what the SOR series is called in Japan. Who knows why Sega changed the title?) Although Axel and Blaze have been unchanged, Max has been dropped in favor of Zan, a wrinkled, bald old dude who has been transformed into a bionic fighting machine by an evil organization. Sammy, too, has grown into a lightning quick teenager from the beaming youngster of SOR 2.

Although the concept and style remain unchanged, several new features have been added. The game has multiple story lines and there are new ways to use weapons, too. Another feature is a new kind of stage where you can ride motorcycles and runaway rail carts.

Clocking in at a whopping 24-Megs, Bare Knuckle 3 is shaping up to be the biggest and the baddest.

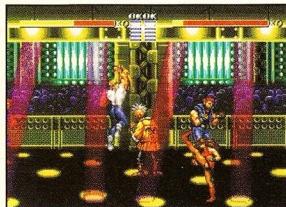

This is simply the best side-scrolling fighting game in a long time.

You have four fighters to choose from. Each one has a lot of special moves. Can you find all of them? It's really tough.

Burn down the road on your motorcycle. Knock the baddies off of their bikes.

Do some high-step stompin' in the dance room. Use your special moves!

Two players can work together to do new fighting tactics. A great way to win.

It all began when I pushed the start button on my new asciiPad SG-6. There was this gigantic flash, and suddenly, I was floating in space. Just then, hundreds of vicious alligators solar-surfed past me, heading towards Earth. If you've never seen an alligator with an attitude, trust me, they're scary. Lots of teeth, and they're not vegetarians.

"We're sick of our swamp planet," they snarled.

"We're taking Nebraska!" I live in California, so I'm thinking, "So what?"—but then I remembered my buddy Travis, from Omaha*. Besides, sooner or later, I knew they'd add Los Angeles to the menu. So, the fate of the World was in my hands. Actually, a Fighter Stick was in my hands—so I flicked on the slow motion control to buy some time. Just then, a spy satellite flew past, with —get this—a laser cannon. I plugged the cord in, switched on turbo fire and blasted those lizards at over 30 shots per second.

Anime videos and laser discs, based on Square's magnificent SFC Final Fantasy RPGs, are in development in Japan. Simply entitled Final Fantasy, the video series will consist of four chapters of Wind, Fire, Dragon and Stars, each running about half an hour. The cost of each chapter is expected to be ¥5,400 (about $50).

The story takes place some 200 years after Final Fantasy V. The hero is a young adventurer who becomes entangled in a grand journey of epic proportions. The heroine is directly from FF V. You'll even find FF familiars like the Chocobos and Cid the flyer of Airships.

The first chapter should coincide with the launch of Final Fantasy VI sometime in spring. I'm eagerly waiting for it. It looks to be really hot. It does justice to a great series.

This series is being done by a number of famous animation artists.

We finally obtained shots of the Split Screen Two-Player Mode of Virtua Racing! The screen is divided into top and bottom halves in the same style as Super Mario Kart. Despite the intense number of crunching needed to display this mode, surprisingly little background details have been sacrificed. Better still, it is possible to change the vantage points for each person! Unlike the arcade version, the Two-Player Mode will enable such options as tire grip, computer opponents and time limits. Races can be held at all three courses at all difficulty settings. This sizzling hot racer is almost here. Stay tuned for more...

The Final Fantasy series continues on in Japan with this massive 24-Meg sequel. It takes place in a land long ago where magic has been replaced by technology.

The story follows Lock Cole, a treasure hunter (a thief) and his partner Mog, a furry critter with wings. They get wrapped up in a series of events that begin with a mech invasion of a small town. One of the pilots is left behind without her memory. Together the group must journey in a quest that will take weeks to solve.

Treks throughout the various towns will provide you with a lot of information.

This cart has unbelievable graphics and sound. It's astonishing.

Although the battle scenes are the same as before, they're very intense to play.

We reported last month that NEC began selling Pioneer's LaserActive system under its own brand name. It turns out that eight of the bigger PC Engine CD-ROM games won't run properly on the LaserActive System, including several hit simulations. NEC blamed the programmers who strayed from PC Engine's operating system format to cut down on annoying disk access. Embarrassed NEC and Pioneer officials vowed they will test new PCE software to ensure compatibility with the LaserActive Systems. The producers of the affected software are supposedly working on solutions of their own. Let's hope they find an answer soon, or a bunch of players will be very unhappy!

Supposedly, the LaserActive can't play some of the bigger CD games.

Some great games like Fatal Fury 2 can't be played on the LaserActive!

All eight cars from the sizzling coin-guzzler original can be chosen for one- or two-player competition, including Speed Buster and Road Monster. Because each machine has its own characteristics, it will take you a while to find which car suits you best.

The colorful settings and cool tunes are straight out of the arcade version. Two new modes have been added, a Head-to-Head Mode against computer drivers, and an International Round Trip where you can earn big bucks. This is as good as the arcade title!

It had to happen some time—Fatal Fury 2 for the GameBoy. Although given the munchkin treatment, all 12 fighters from SNK's arcade original are fully available—from Andy Bogard to Wolfgang Krauser. But super deformed as they are, the fighters can do all their regular moves and power moves, of course, and even their kill moves and taunts. (One tricky thing is that the strengths of the blows are adjusted by how long the buttons are pressed.) Too bad the two-line playing field is gone. Great anyway!

All your old tricks, like Jubei's two throw combos will work here!

Check this baseball glove out! Pretty snazzy, huh? Um, no, not that hideous banana yellow colored glove. But don't worry about the goofy looks, Mizuno of Japan's new Air Fit Glove is a great new idea. This puppy features an air pump that is used to inflate the inside of the glove to provide the ultimate in fit, comfort and grip. Needless to say, the glove's padding and air cushion assure excellent protection even while providing outstanding flexibility and control. Even better, it is extremely light so you won't be dragging it around when you're out in the field at the bottom of the ninth. Let's hope they come out with some better colors soon!

It sort of reminds me of those shoes they had in Back to the Future 2. The technology we've got is getting better all the time. Who knows how our sports will be played a few years down the line?

Simple advancements like these will assuredly make sports more interesting. Like most of the things I show, these won't reach your shores.

Oh well, I might as well stop complaining and write some other things. Onto the next set of facts, folks.

Mizuno's new Air Fit Glove may change the way baseball is played.

The first major producer to sign on with Sony was Namco. The deal covers not only development of software, but also research and development of arcade games using the PS-X.

Although Namco would not reveal any planned software, they admitted the possibility of translating their ultra-cool hits like Galaxian 3 and Ridge Racer.

Shortly after Namco's announcement, word leaked out that Konami, another heavyweight producer, will become PS-X's second licensee. And, Capcom has also signed on (32-Bit SF2?). Things are looking up for the PS-X all of a sudden.

In contrast to the PS-X's improving viability, question marks hang over 3DO in Japan. There has been very little word on software. (Japanese producers have been ominously quiet about any software they have in development.) The system's credibility was dealt a further blow when Sanyo, a major electronics maker, announced they shelved their plans to release their own 3DO machine. Their decision to withhold launch now indicates a lack of confidence in the system. What will happen? Only time will tell.

Despite the strong start, the 3DO isn't doing all that well in Japan.

The sequel to the colossal Sega CD RPG is in preparation in Japan. Like the first game, this RPG starts out with a party of just a few people. As the story progresses, new characters join and leave the party to add depth to this enormous epic. The game system is basically unchanged, but with a much better AI (Artificial Intelligence) for letting characters fight automatically. There should be enough adventure and mystery to keep players glued to their sets for weeks. If Lunar does well in the U.S., we might see this CD.

The battle scenes are fast paced, with lots of magic and monsters.

The towns in Lunar II are very colorful and the animation is A+.

Building On A Strong Foundation

In the world of video games, what you don't see is often more important than what you do see. Like the stability and financial strength that lies behind every game that bears a company's name.

We've been around a long time and have released our share of hit titles. With more big hits on the way. That's because we've always been very selective in choosing which games bear the Seika name. A matter of quality vs. quantity. So rest assured that whether our games deal with medieval adventures or futuristic super heroes, we'll be around to support it — Tomorrow.

Strange Message

You will have to get to Track No. 4 of the Deathdrome circuit to see these rather strange words scroll by in one long sentence (with typos and everything):

Once upon a time a genius, a spiritual overlord and a visionary racing criminal became "sotally sober" and decided they would create a legend. Mark said, "Future shock on wheels. Sex, drugs and rock'n roll all going 100MPH! And with more guns than the LAPD. It's what America is all about!" Madeline raised the toast, "And make sure it is done before September or we'll swing by our heels."

And thus it was decided But they needed some help. Little did they know that a hedgehog trainer named Bill would arrive in a few weeks all set to kick some asphalt. "Don't tell me the odds," said Bill, "and I won't tell you to get the h#ll out of my office. "Bill put the 'l' in Artificial Intelligence, and a little A, too, just to keep me from going insane (again). Cyrus created a killer two million dollar demo, and then put together the best art teams ever legally assembled. "Programming doesn't have to be ugly," he said. "Programmers, maybe, but this thing will shine when me and Steve get done with it." Steve shrugged. "Say what you like, 'cause I'm not listening..." Steve listens to only Rocker, Twix (continue on 96)

Druger and Klaw (NOT!). "This thing will shine when me and Cyrus get done with it," says Steve. And so it began, at first a train wreck waiting to happen. But later the prize of the show was winning the blue bundle ribbon. Another Bill joined (you can never have too many Bills) and glued the whole thing together with Steve after setting all the cars on fire. The other Bill says mysteriously, "And wait until you see the other tunnels, too." As always, a few stunt programmers were needed. Troy, feeling like Godot as he waited for OS (should have been called the SOS) tried to make the Fat Lady sing, but when asked to play a tune, Troy sez "Bite me!" and stumbles home to bed at 130 MPH. In the end, both the ground and the grunge behaved, and much sleep was had by all. A final thank-you to Frankie Goes to Hollywood (just like 3DO) for their musical inspiration! "The Ballad of Crash 'N Burn" was written by Jon "nakasete miyou" Horseley Really. What Could Happen On The World's Greatest Cruise Ship?

Well, it could set sail with lifeboats for only half the passengers aboard. A huge storm could send tsunami tidal waves crashing down against its hull. Lightning could strike and set off several fires on its deck. Its wireless operator's desperate taps of SOS could be ignored completely. Worse yet, you could actually be on board!

But hey, keep your head above water; you've got 45,000 tons of ocean liner, not to mention 2,300 people who look to you to keep them from sinking.

Golf's just a couple of simple steps!

Yeah right!

So simple you've taken three swings at the ball and it hasn't left the tee yet. So simple you've dug a hole five feet deep trying to get out of the sand trap. So simple you've landed smack behind a huge tree you didn't see before. And so simple you're up to your knees in water trying to pull a ball out of the lake you thought you overshot.

Scratch Golf, simply an awesome experience!

MOST WANTED TRICK

This month's most wanted trick is NOT for MK or MK2 (no, we're not kidding!) It is for the great 3DO shooter, Total Eclipse. The trick we would like to see is to get 99 ships in this game. This method or code may have something to do with the Title Screen or the Options Screen before you play the game. If you find the correct method to do this trick, (no bogus letters...the Trickman hates those!) send it in. You'll get your name in print, and a free game for the system of your choice (see rules in tiny print on the first page of Tricks of the Trade for allowable systems).

The trick may have something to do with this screen.

Find the code to increase your number of ships to 99!

NEW SOFT NEWS

With the Winter CES just a few days away from when I write this, I've found that most of the companies have gotten pretty quiet on the video game front. Finding new and tasty tidbits of info is hard to do, but here's what I got for you...

Konami, a name we all recognize, has a few games in store for us in the near future. They have licensed the comical antics of the Anamaniacs and the action of the Biker Mice From Mars. They are also working on Hyper Dunk Basketball: the Play-off Edition, a lightning-quick sports title that'll keep you playin'.

Also from Kemco is a wacky racing game called Crazy Chase. You're a clown-like runner trying to pace your self through a number of peculiar obstacle courses.

And...saving the best for last, Sega has just introduced the Genesis CDX, a portable Genesis and Sega CD all in one! Wow is the first thing that comes to mind, but what about the Game Gear? Also from Sega is Tom Cat Alley, another CD title.

Crazy Chase By Kemco

Selka Super Turrican 2

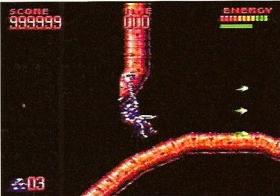

Super NES

Action

Last month we showed you a sneak peek at what might be one of the best action titles of the year: Super Turrican 2. Going above and beyond becoming just a simple sequel, this all-out action game brings you more weapons, more technique and a lot of hot levels to go through.

Selka is still working hard to make this the best it can be. More enemies have been programmed in since last time, and all new features like an armored war tank are now here. There are all new effects that can't be described with mere words in this cart. For example: the first Boss pulsates with a weird life of its own. Strange!

Keep looking in the pages of EGM to get the latest news on this radical new action game.

Fight your way through the maze of an alien's innards. Mmm... tasty!

You can now ride in armored vehicles over the sand dunes.

The beam-weapons have additional effects when you fire them.

Snake-like beasts burrow out of the sand to attack you.

Super Drakkhen

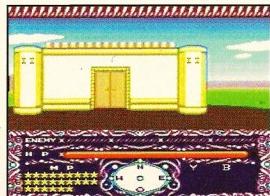

Super NES

Action/RPG

You probably don't know that there is a sequel to one of the first RPGs for the Super NES. It's been a while since we've played Drakkhen, but its sequel improves vastly on the original.

The game play is more action oriented, plus less emphasis has been placed on the 3-D sections (though they're still there).

The graphics to this new game are much better than before as are the sounds. There aren't many RPGs out on the market, so you might want to consider checking this one out.

The 3-D scenes are better than ever and with a lot more detail to them.

The towns will offer you aid throughout your cumbersome quest.

There is plenty of fighting for action buffs as well.

SCARED?

Alfred Scared?
Yeah, Like This Is His Brain, Dude!

Bullet-Proof Software

Twisted Tales of Spike McFang

Super NES

RPG

Bullet-Proof Software has a brand new RPG for the Super Nintendo called The Twisted Tales of Spike McFang. Its game play is reminiscent of Zelda or Soul Blazer. You control a magician guy of some sorts, and battle zany looking monsters in a tripped out role-playing world. The farther you go along, the better the powers you'll receive.

To match the comical look, hilarious animations have been added to give this cart a distinctive flavor. For example, when you face a giant stone head, you'll run right through a wall. Look to these pages for more info.

The palace is the place where your first objective lies. How do you get in?

Your pet frog has a key that allows you entrance into the palace.

You will learn new techniques the further you play into the game.

Voyeur

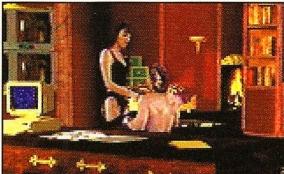

CD Interactive

Inter. Movie

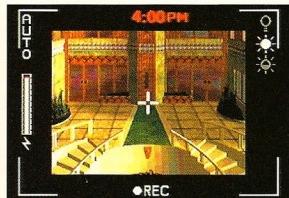

Voyeur is a game for adults on the CD Interactive unit. It has a Lock-out System Code, so that younger players won't be able to see the rather risqué scenes.

The plot focuses around Reed Hawke, a millionaire and presidential candidate. He is a real sleaze, and it's up to you to collect enough footage with your camera to stop his campaign. You will peep into his life and of those around him. Murder might be committed which you might have to stop. The game changes each time, and the video footage is great.

Voyeur is a sensual thriller that really puts you into the game. Of course, this game is strictly for adults as adult situations are often portrayed. Definitely worth trying out.

You must use surveillance cameras to spy on the presidential candidate.

Peer through the windows and lives of Hawke Manor. Solve its mysteries.

Culture Brain

SD Golden Fighter

Super NES

Fighting

A hot new fighting cart is on its way compliments of the folks at Electro Brain. Entitled SD (Super Deformed) Golden Fighter, this game features a number of cartoonish characters in the struggle of skills.

Even though we've yet to hear from Golden Fighter, the super deformed version is really quite outstanding. The moves look spectacular, and the graphics are colorful. The great diversity of fighting forms is clearly evident here. The characters range from mystic warriors to dragon-like griffins.

If you still haven't been able to whet your appetite for intense fighting, SD Golden Fighter may just appeal the beast in you. Overall, this is a game that you should be on the lookout for. It's very cool.

SD Golden Fighter will turn into an all-out slugfest in no time at all.

SD Golden Fighter looks good, especially when seen in action.

Each of the fighters has an array of powerful special moves to use.

There are even giant beasts to battle in this fighting game!

DTMC

Fire Striker

Super NES

Action

DTMC has created a brand new cartridge for the Super NES that combines some old genres to make a wholly new type of game. Fire Striker has you (and a possible second player) trying to thwart the forces of evil using magical fireballs. With this power, you will travel across the land, trying to free the seals that hold the elements under control.

OK, get this... Remember the old game of Breakout? That's how Fire Striker is played. You must swing your sword to knock the ball higher up. To clear the stages, the fiery projectile must be flung to the top of the screen. To stop you, monsters like slimes and skeletons will pursue your hero (you have a choice of fighters.) around the screen. You'll lose a life when you lose the ball through the bottom of the screen, or if you get hit by too many monsters. To clear the seals, a giant Boss creature appears to attack.

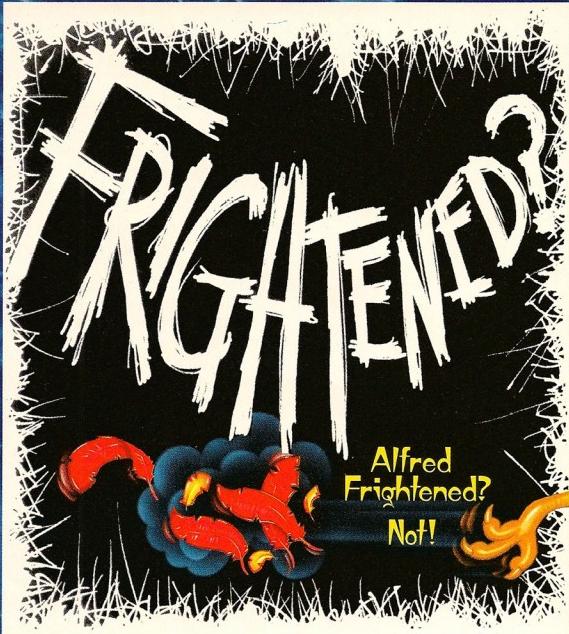

Fire Striker is a fun game to play. It's very different, and not all that violent so all players can enjoy it.

The king will send you out on your quest through the kingdom.

As you can see by this map, the game is really big and involving.

HOT RPG-TYPE ACTION!

You can really power-up if you can find the treasure chests.

Frigid boulders will tumble down the icy mountains.

Hit the door 20 times to clear the way to the main enemy.

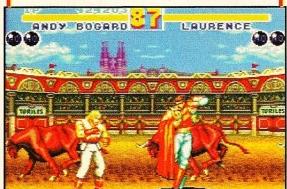

The Bosses have magical powers to kill off your fighters.

Takara

Fatal Fury 2

Super NES

Fighting

The high intensity fighting of Fatal Fury 2 comes home on the Super NES with almost everything intact from the hit arcade game. Takara has put a lot of effort into this near-perfect rendition. All the characters and levels (along with every single special and power move) are in this game!

The cart is a fighting spectacle. The playability is fantastic and the moves are done the same way they are on the Neo-Geo version.

There is a diverse selection of characters (play as the Bosses? Hmm...), from the awesome Andy Bogard to the bestial Big Bear.

If you want a decent fighting cart, this is one to look for. It is an amazing translation of the Neo-Geo cart. I wonder how they shrunk it?

Andy nukes his brother Terry with one of his power blasts.

The gigantic Big Bear roars right into Mai, the nimble female ninja.

Cheng and Jubei clash with both of their special moves blazing.

Tai kickboxer Joe Higashida whips up a tornado at Kim Kaphwan.

Each character has a number of special moves, plus power moves too!

You can play the same character versus himself without a special code.

BONUS ROUNDS!!!

Bash pillars and blocks to rack up points within the time limits.

Hotel Mario

CD Interactive

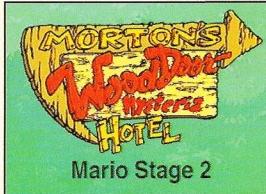

Action

The first platform game for the CDi features Mario and his ongoing battle against the Koopas. It seems that King Koopa and his children have gone into the hotel business. Mario and Luigi must go from floor to floor wiping out Goombas, Troopas and closing all the doors. If you close all the doors, you'll get past the level.

With CD sound and great control, you'll enjoy Mario's latest adventure. It'll remind you a lot of the original Mario Brothers game. A good choice, if you want fun action.

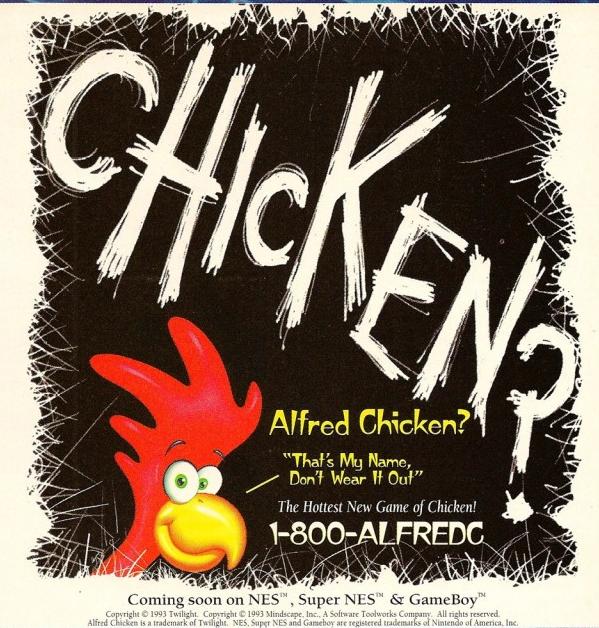

Mario and Luigi have cinematic displays for their adventures.

Morton Koopa Jr. has opened up a hotel inside of a tree!

For some of the best racing action on your Game Gear, there's Micro Machines. This fast-paced racer is ripping down the road to a store near you. Done by Codemasters (the same people who brought out the terrific Genesis version), this game has very little lost in the translation.

Unlike most portable racers, the control is really top-notch, and there's a number of vehicles and tracks to race on. You can go off-road or zip

G2

Super NES

Action

Get ready to slash your way through 15 stages of menacing mechanical assassins with G2. You control a mammoth size mech with awesome capabilities. Your main weapon is your sword, with which you slice and dice relentless hordes of mechs.

G2 is graphically intense, and there are all sorts of dangers awaiting the unwary. At the end of each zone, a giant Boss will threaten to take you apart piece by piece. G2 will pit your skills against a number of enemy mechs.

If you want a good action game, G2 will be coming out soon. Look for more info later on.

Work your way up through the tower to get to your main objective.

The sewers are an ideal way to catch the enemy forces unaware.

You will gain powerful weapons the farther you go on in G2.

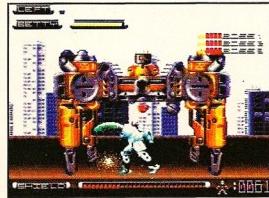

Even teeny tiny infantrymen will attack your Genocide 2 mech.

THE SEWERS

The aircraft carrier is where you will face your deadliest opposition.

The Bosses you meet will take up almost an entire game screen!

Crystal Dynamics

The Horde

3DO

Action/Sim.

A hot new strategy game is on its way to the 3DO compliments of Crystal Dynamics. The plot line is simple. You are in charge of a small, but ever growing village. Unfortunately hordes of goblins and such have been staging raids and killing many innocent people.

You must build up a defense for the town, along with a small militia. Then when the baddies come along, you will fight. The goblins will rip and kill anything in their path. Nothing is safe—not even cows or trees.

If you have a 3DO and are looking for an involving strategy cart, you might be attracted to The Horde. Its quick-moving, easy-to-learn play is quite addicting. It's even got blood in it. Can you save your village?

Fortify your village with pits and spikes, but make sure you can move around.

Use the maps to plot your strategy against the forces of evil.

Balloon Park

A crazy zone that is decorated with animals!

Chrome Gadget

Conveyor belts and other technical blocks!

Desert Palace

Quicksand and plenty of loops form a headache!

Endless Mine

These mines have blocked passageways.

Super Special Stages!

Ready for one intense headache of a lifetime? These stages can be accessed by jumping into giant rings dotted about the level. Your task is to collect all the blue spheres and not hit the red.

Gumball Machine Bonuses!

That's right! There are two kinds of bonus rounds in this game! Get 50 rings and hit a goal mark, then jump into the stars above to find a giant gumball machine! Collect 1-Ups and such.

ANGEL ISLAND ZONE

This level starts out with all kinds of beautiful scenery. You will soon learn, however, that it is a truly treacherous land, harboring many traps—ranging from weak bridges and collapsing ledges to other nasties like speeding rhino badniks! Halfway through the first act, the Mid-Boss will appear and destroy the whole level with napalm missiles! Then you must trek on through the scorched landscape and get to the Robotnik! Hint: there are four Special Stage Rings here!

Travel on land and even through deep waters in search of rings and bonuses!

Mid-Boss madness!

This flame-throwing pod just sulks about and shoots off his flame. No biggie.

Flames are flying high with Robotnik's rage!

These fireballs can skim along the ground. Be careful with these!

Concentrate on Robo's movement when he is behind the waterfall!!

Rain De-forest-action!

Halfway into the first act, you will encounter the Mid-Boss, which launches several missiles that will strike the ground. Flames will erupt, turning the level into a scorched wasteland!

Run for your life from the giant bomber!

The badniks are coming! Run like a hedgehog out of hell so you do not get hit by shrapnel from the exploding bombs this giant carrier drops upon you!

Robo has twin guns that can fire giant fireballs. He can also fly behind the water!

HYDRO CITY ZONE

Enter the Hydro City, where the majority of the level takes place (where else) under water! There are special walls that, when broken, cause suction that will haul you to who knows where! There are fans dotted about that will cause currents which may even push you right into a bed of spikes! Look out for vertical corkscrews that lead to air or down into the murky depths! One thing you should know—it is a good thing to guide yourself off course when flung into the air (chances are you'll find power-ups!).

If these walls are broken, the suction will send you flying!

There are sections where Sonic has to hang on tight! Otherwise he might just be sucked to a quick death!

These twisty tubes can be very handy when trying to reach higher/lower levels!

Mid-boss madness!

Just think of this Boss as the core of a washing machine. Get the picture?

Depth charges, inverse whirlpools and Robotnik!

Once he lowers to cause the suction whirl, whack him a few times!

Robotnik will drop depth charges! For a safe spot, stand next to one of them.

Here, he drops depth charges and can create a reverse whirlpool effect!

MARBLE GARDEN ZONE

This is probably the only zone that does not contain any water sequences! That doesn't mean it is not difficult, though. There are plenty of traps to keep you on your toes, ranging anywhere from faces that fire out arrows to enormous ball and chains! There are also several spindles dotted about the land. You can activate them and the whole earth will shift to reveal secret passageways! Definitely different.

Helpful equipment!!

There are all kinds of neat contraptions to help you out. Things like pulleys help you up hills and tops let you skim the land!

If you find a blue wheel embedded in the ground, try a Spin Dash...

...and magically, segments of the ground will shift, leading the way!

There are many other objects lying around, like fake spikes holding badniks!

Mid-Boss madness!

This drill bit is a breeze! All you have to do is attack it when it's out of the ceiling!

Battle it in the skies with Tails at your side!

After each of Robotnik's passes, he will fly into the background to attack you!

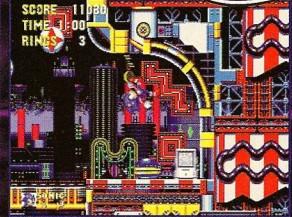

Don't worry about falling, Tails will follow you off screen and pick you up!

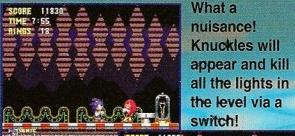

Now this is different! Follow the Doc by having Tails carry you in the sky!

CARNIVAL NIGHT ZONE

What can be worse than another version of the Spring Yard Zone? Why, if you add water segments to it, of course! Race through the fury of bells and bumpers while leaping from balloon to balloon—all while listening to some really crazy clown music! Rotating cages will spin you senseless, and strips of fans will blow you to heaven knows where! There is also a scene where Knuckles knocks out all the lights in the level, too!

Lights out, everyone!

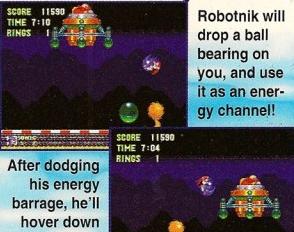

The only way to re-activate them is to find the on switch located somewhere within the complex!

Mid-boss madness!

Get this: the way to defeat this Boss is to hit it open—and its attack pod hits itself!

After dodging his energy barrage, he'll hover down for the ball, so strike!

Robotnik is starting to really play rough! His energy cyclone can suck you in!

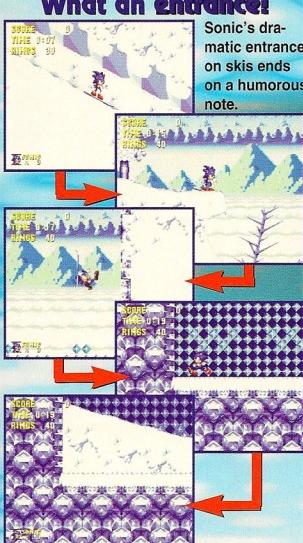

Robotnik can prove to be a shocking experience!

Robotnik will drop a ball bearing on you, and use it as an energy channel!

ICE CAP ZONE

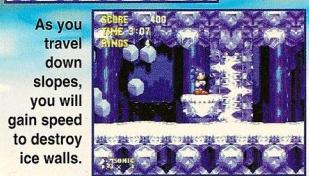

Where would an action game be without an Ice Level? To start off, Sonic makes a superb entrance that ends with blundering (however humorous) consequences. From then on, you must face frozen waters, platforms that are propelled by your own speed hitting the sides, and gigantic chunks of ice that provide an easy way to get around as well as a means to bust through giant walls of ice! There are plenty of traps and all the power-ups, items, and other things are frozen—pending your Spin Attack to break them open. This level has plenty of surprises!

Ice battering rams!

At this scene, push this ice block over the edge, using it as a ram!

As you travel down slopes, you will gain speed to destroy ice walls.

Stalactites fall onto the spikes, providing a safe passage. You can also use it as an ice sled.

Mid-Boss Madness!

Duck at the end of the screen. After it does two swoops, nail the badnick!

Being iced is no fun—especially when it throws you back a distance!

Robotnik uses freeze jets that spray to either side of himself and under his craft!

Cold-hearted Robotnik's insta-freeze breezer!

Time your jumps into the center and give him a few whacks before the jet.

LAUNCH BASE ZONE

Enter the final level of the game! This is the zone where Dr. Robotnik's Death Egg is under repair. It's up to you to reach and destroy it for good! Here, there are plenty of pathways to choose from. Some lead into indoor installations, while others could lead into a giant water system loaded with pipes and badniks! There are also transport elevators shifting you from section to section and water pipes that can carry you for miles! At the end, you must face four tough versions of Robotnik, all the while trying to prevent the final launch!

Enter the Final Level of total surprises!

Use elevators to transport to different places dotted about the level.

SCORE 1300
TIME 5:39
RINGS 13

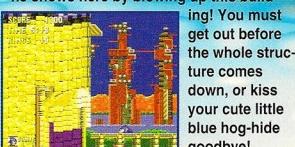

There are certain tubes that, if broken, you can use to travel in the water!

Who knows where these waterways will lead. Have a nice trip!

Knuckles will remain a constant threat, as he shows here by blowing up this building! You must get out before the whole structure comes down, or kiss your cute little blue hog-hide goodbye!

Mid-Boss Madness!

This Mid-Boss just mindlessly follows you around, swinging its arms relentlessly about itself. Once it sticks its arms in, strike it! Just be patient!

Defeat Robotnik as he attacks by launching cannon balls!

After chasing the Doc, meet Knuckles who'll fall due to the launch!

You must tag him as he passes by you. Watch out for that nasty grip!

You need to destroy three sections before taking on the final battle suit!

The Death Egg is taking off! Hurry and take out Robotnik once and for all!

Chase Robotnik to the cargo lift where he fights you in this form!

SPECIAL FEATURE!

Interplay

With its library of recent hits, Interplay is fast becoming one of the best video game software companies in the industry. Great games such as Out of This World, The Lost Vikings and Rock 'N' Roll Racing, to name a few, are some of their best and most popular titles.

With the new year in full swing, Interplay will continue to have gamers begging for more with their incredible lineup of games.

First will be Night Mare, which is an action/adventure game much like the highly acclaimed Out of This World. This title features a unique story line about a warrior destined to save the world from evil. There are plenty of beautifully drawn scenes with some of the smoothest character animations around. Next is The Lord of the Rings, a role-playing adventure based on J.R.R. Tolkien's classic fantasy tale. Like Night Mare, there are literally thousands of frames of rotoscoped animation. There is also a multi-player feature. The other title on Interplay's release schedule is Clay Fighter 2. Players are promised more moves, more hidden moves and new stages, as well as some other new features not yet available. There's also some talk about The Lost Vikings 2. The story and the features are not yet known at this time.

With a lineup like this, it looks like a banner year for the guys at Interplay!

Interplay

NIGHT MARE

Cool Cinemas!

In Interplay's Night Mare players must delve into a world veiled in evil. Only the most skilled of warriors will bring order to this dark realm. This new action/adventure features the play elements that made Out of This World such a hit—awesome rotoscoped animation, challenging puzzles and excellent game play! There are other new features that have been added in the game as well, such as the ability to arm yourself with a weapon and aim it to your back even when you are facing forward. You can also hide in the dark shadows of the scene and elude the numerous enemies or make them miss their shots at you. The graphics are very well drawn with a dark theme. The beautiful backgrounds will give you the sense of almost being there. The music is very well done, also adding to the feeling of chaos!

Arm yourself and be prepared for potential danger as you venture through the caves.

You can find out more about your mission by talking to people on the way.

Your character can hide in the shadows as the enemy fire upon you.

Pick up various items like bombs to help get through some locked doors.

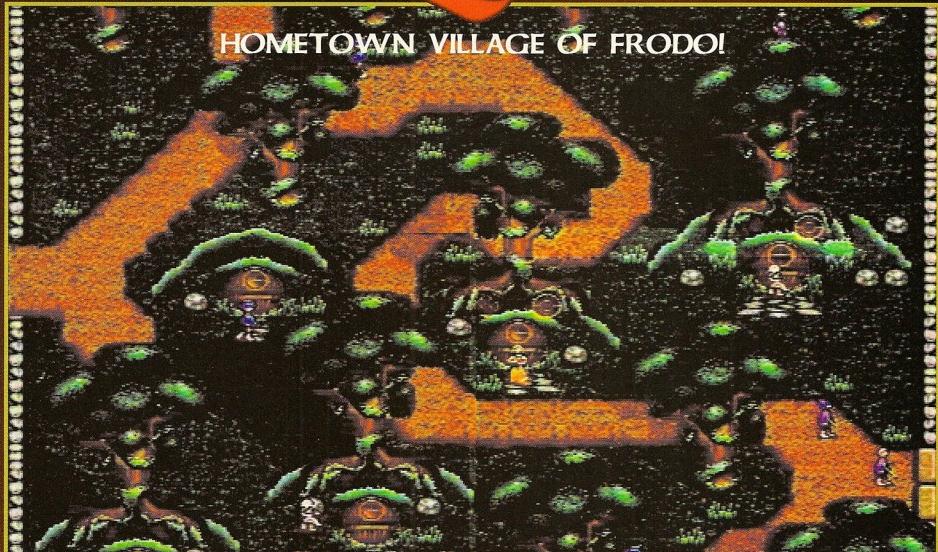

Now, the lands of swords and sorcery come alive. Prepare yourself as this treasured Tolkien tale—The Lord of the Rings, Volume 1—takes you on an epic adventure through Middle Earth. This amazing game faithfully follows the adventures of the hobbit Frodo Baggins on his quest to destroy the One Ring that has the power to end Middle Earth. You find yourself in the story playing the able leader of a band of benevolent hobbits, elves, dwarves and a wizard. Each of your companions has their own unique personality and decision-making skills, making your journey all the more exciting as you travel through the familiar landmarks of the Tolkien tale—from the deep fog of the Barrow Downs to the darkness of the Mines of Moria. See you there, Precious!

The Lord of the Rings

CLAY FIGHTER 2

Those funny fighters of clay are coming back to a video game screen near you this summer in Clay Fighter 2! The sequel will sport more moves and more hidden special attacks. As you can see, the artists of the game are also at work on some new stages as shown on this page. Among other new features will be better music!

FOLLOWING THE HUGE SUCCESS OF CLAY FIGHTER, THE EGM EDITORS WENT BACK TO INTERPLAY TO SEE IF THEY HAD ANY PLANS FOR A SEQUEL. HERE'S THEIR STORY...

Our editors have a nose for news. With Clay Fighter still hot we had a feeling that Interplay had a story to tell about a sequel. Not only did Jeremy Airey (the lead CF2 programmer) give us a behind-the-scenes look at some of the models that are being considered as backgrounds for the upcoming CF2, but he also gave us an insight as to how they will make the new game that much better than the first!

EGM: How about a hint as to what we will see in Clay Fighter 2?

Jeremy: We're only going to keep two of the original characters. We will have many more, possibly go up to 10. Maybe even have some secret characters in the game. After looking at Mortal Kombat II and all that secret stuff, we'll go the same route. And we're doing some stuff like Eternal Champions did. This will be really hot!

EGM: When will the game come out?

Jeremy: We're looking at July-August for the Super NES version and June-July for the Genesis game.

EGM: I see you have some models of the new backgrounds (see pictures), how long does it take to make these?

Jeremy: The large Frosty one took two weeks to do, but as we get more experience, we can do about two per week.

EGM: Will any of the backgrounds be interactive with the player as we have seen on some of the other fighting games like Samurai Shodown?

Jeremy: We were trying that with the first one, but it didn't seem to work very well. I don't think we'll do it in this version.

EGM: How about giving the characters fatalities?

Jeremy: We're going to do a lot of that type of stuff. Hidden characters, special codes that do certain things, you know, stuff that will really set CF2 apart from CF.

EGM: What are the specs on the cart?

Jeremy: We're shooting for a 16-Meg cart. The music and sound effects will be much better than the first and there will be great voices.

CAESARS WORLD OF BOXING

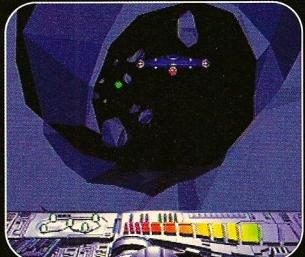

Before you start a fight, you have to train. To do that you need a trainer. Look at different profiles of trainers to see which one suits you.

This is the perspective of the ring. A good strategy is to get your man in the corner and keep pounding him until the end of the round.

1. This is where you first appear in Tolemac.
2. At this location you get a staff.
3. Grab a boomerang weapon here.

Inside the caves you have to think on your feet and act very quickly in order to survive. You will come to some points of the cave where you will need certain objects and weapons to advance further in the game. 1. FEAR NO MORE! ENIX AND EGM HAVE TEAMED UP TO ANSWER YOUR PRAYERS. HERE ARE SOME QUESTIONS—AND THEIR ANSWERS—THAT MAY FIT YOUR SITUATIONS.

Q. I wish this game had a map that listed all of the towns, castles and caves.

A. Here it is! Remember you only have two wishes left!

Q. I found the Wind Rune in the cave of Melename. The problem is one of the other apprentices stole it.

How can I get it back?

A. This is a very common problem. If you have had the Wind Rune stolen and have not travelled past the town of Eygus, I usually suggest that people reset the game. The problem is that the apprentices in the early sections of the game are very difficult to beat. Until you have to get EYGUS RELY lucky in order to defeat them. It would take you about 45 minutes to obtain the Wind Rune back at the end of the game. It would take you in excess of five-six hours to beat all the apprentices. If you continue to save the game each time you enter a town, you will be able to simply reset the game if you should lose your Rune. This will allow you to start from the last place saved. So, you should be able to prevent anyone from stealing your Runes.

Q. In the cave of Melename, I see a doorway, but there are some rocks blocking the entrance. How do I move these?

A. Travel to the town of Zellis. Enter the inn and speak to the villager inside. His name is Brantu. Brantu will join your party as a third person and will open the rocks blocking the doorway. If Brantu will not join you, return to Bonno and get the map from Gaius.

Q. How do I get the Water Rune from the wizard in the town of Guntz?

A. You must continue talking to the Wizard in Guntz until he agrees to trade you the Water Rune for some water. Next, travel to the village of Pell; in the tavern, you will find a villager named Digger. Once he has joined your party, travel back to Guntz and Digger will bring the water. The wizard will now give you the Water Rune.

Q. I keep hearing about a secret entrance in the town of Patrof. Where is this entrance and will it allow me to enter the castle?

A. If you search each of the tombstones in Patrof, you will find one that reads: "Do not disturb." Stand beneath this tombstone and push your control pad up. The tombstone will move, revealing a secret staircase. Yes, this stairway will lead you into the castle.

Q. There is a rock blocking the path of Milto that I can't seem to move. How do I move this rock?

A. You must have three Runes to start this process. Enter the town of Bone and look for a little boy. If you talk to the boy, he will ask you a question about Bonno. If you answer "No," he will either give you a remote control or ask you to take him to Bonno. The remote control will open the rock in the cave of Milto. If you take the boy to Bonno, his uncle will arrange for you to take a boat ride. Both of these options accomplish basically the same thing. If you get one, you will not get the other.

Q. I defeated the dragon in the village of Luze. The game tells me that the Rune has been stolen. How can I find it? A. Since there is no way of preventing the theft of this Rune, you need to try and locate the apprentice who stole it. Try returning to the towns you have visited already via the Wind Rune. Once inside a town, step outside. Look in your crystal ball located in the upper left corner of the screen. If the circle representing the town is flashing, the thief is in that town.

Q. How can I enter the Tower of Grime?

A. If you have Olvan as your main character, travel to the town of Bone. Once in Bone, walk to the bottom right corner. Here you will find an old man who will give you the Key of Brilliance. If you don't have Olvan, don't worry. In the upper right corner of the continent you will find the North Tower. In this tower there is a flashing square. If you step on this square, you will be teleported into the Tower of Grime.

Q. How can I find the cave of Laosur?

A. From the village of Padal walk south until you reach the mountains. Now walk west along the mountains and you will enter the cave. The entrance is invisible.

Q. I defeated the Serpent Lady in the castle of Baran. Prosa, the commander promised me the Moon Rune if I defeated her. Now when I talk to him, he asks me to find Pegin and will not give me the Rune! Why?

A. Return to the village of Zellis. In the tavern talk with everyone and you will locate Pegin. Now return to Prosa and he will give you the Moon Rune.

Q. I can't seem to find a way through the flames in Bithem Castle.

A. When you enter the castle, immediately go left and walk up the staircase. Now walk south to the wall and go left. Look for a narrow hallway leading up. Take this hallway to the top and go left. Take the staircase down. Now you will enter the flames from the right hand side. You should find a narrow passage through them.

Q. OK, so I made it through the flames and found Doros, but I can't beat him because he splits into three. A. Follow the direction above. Except instead of entering the flames, continue walking down until you find a staircase leading down. Here you will find a wooden table. Push the table and you will find a key. To the left of this table you will notice a jail cell. Open the jail cell and release the old man being held prisoner. He will give you an item called: Star. Use this item on Doros and you will be able to defeat him.

Q. I made it to Brush, and Brantu won't let me into the basement. What am I supposed to do?

A. First, you need to have six Runes; if you are missing a Rune or Runes, read through the top section again and find which ones you missed. You have not missed any, it is likely that an apprentice challenged you to a fight, defeated you and took your Rune. If this has happened, you need to travel from town to town, looking for the apprentice. Once you have six Runes, return to Brush and speak with the fortune teller. Now speak with Brantu and he will fly you to the next continent.

Q. I am at the next continent and I lost my magic. I have also found Gorfun the main Boss but he disappears, what am I doing wrong?

A. You need to locate the Moonlight. The Moonlight is located in a cave southwest of Guanta. In this cave you will face Metal Pison. After defeating him you will locate the Moonlight in a treasure chest. Return to Guanta and someone will remove the curse restoring your magic. When you face Gorfun, use the Moonlight on him when he disappears.

Q. I have received the seven Runes again! Where do I go now?

A. Walk to the upper right corner of the continent, here you will find the final castle and Gorsia waits within!

THE GOOD

Awesome two-on-two action. NBA basketball fans will not be able to get enough of this game.

THE BAD

There are slight differences between this and the arcade version which aren't worth noting.

THE UGLY

It's too addicting. Expect very long playing sessions with your friends who may never leave your house.

Play with the superstars from all 27 NBA teams—from Ewing to Pippen in the East to Barkley and Robinson in the West, with veteran superstars like Malone and Parish, to rookie sensations like Mourning and Laettner—each with his own on-court personality and attributes. Play one player, two players on the same side or two players against each other. With a 4-player adapter, start a two-on-one or a four-player game with your friends. All the hardwood action and incredible dunks of the arcade game are here, complete with speech, record-keeping, seasonal play and half-time report. With new features like Tag Mode also included, not playing NBA Jam really rocks!

GET A PLAYER ON A HOT STREAK!

When a player scores three baskets in a row, he'll be "on fire." During this time, he has unlimited turbo and a much better chance of sinking shots from anywhere on the floor!

SHATTER THE BACKBOARD!

The NBA backboard cannot sustain the intense jamming it goes through during a game.

Eventually it's going to wear out and shatter into pieces. It's really cool to watch!

IT'S A TOTAL JAM SESSION!

There are tons of different slams in this game. You'll get different slams depending on the dunking ability of the player and the location on the court he takes off from!

In the future, a giant corporation that is the economic superpower suddenly turns evil when it starts producing dangerous mutants. Four warriors with different reasons for hating the corporation take matters into their own hands and try to take it down. The Peace Keepers is the latest in the Rival Turf series.

However, this one is completely nonlinear, and at times the game is a giant maze of characters and traps. You can also hook up with other characters later in the game at certain points! For brawlers, there is also a Free-For-All Versus Mode where up to four people can play with the new multitap.

THE PEACE KEEPERS

HAND-TO-HAND WEAPONS:

BOWIE KNIFE:

Slice 'em with reach!

LEAD PIPE:

Give 'em a good smack!

KATANA:

Long sword that cuts!

BAT:

Nails stuck in wood!

ICONS:

To find these items, break open drums, boxes and vases. Some can be used only once, while others can be used as long as you can hold them!

KNIFE:

Throwable sharp blade!

THROWN WEAPONS:

ROCK:

Throwable stone!

SHURIKEN:

Four-sided blade!

GRENADE:

Throw once to flame!

MORE FIGHTERS:
In the game, you can hook up with more fighters and can play as them later! Fans of Brawl Brothers will recognize this tough fighter!

BREAK THESE:

Hit these articles multiple times to reveal the item hidden inside!

HEALTH ITEMS:

The health items are essential for completion of the game. However, they can also be thrown at enemies and cause damage! Just press X to toss it!

MEDIKIT:

Restore 100%

CAN O' POP:

Restore 50%

KNIFE:

Restore 25%

PROKOP: LOOKING FOR HIS SISTER, AMY!

Prokop is the strongest, but also the slowest of the Peace Keepers!

FLYNN: OUT TO AVENGE HIS FRIEND'S DEATH!

Flynn is fast and has a deadly uppercut! He also has killer slams!

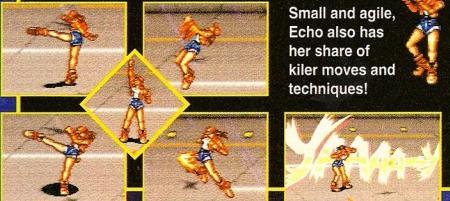

AL: OUT TO FIND HIS FRIENDS!

Al is a tough fighter who carries a bazooka, and knows how to use it!

ECHO: OUT TO AVENGE HER GRANDFATHER!

Small and agile, Echo also has her share of killer moves and techniques!

VS. MODE: 4-PLAYER FREE-FOR-ALL!

You can select the environment in which you are going to fight. You can have electrified floors or plain ones and can even put in a few weapons too.

TWO-PLAYER SIMULTANEOUS ACTION:

In The Peace Keepers, two people can play simultaneously! However, there are two modes: one where you can hurt each other and another where you cannot.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT STORY MODE...

This game is non-linear, and there are several areas to explore. Not every level has a Boss, and the game is never exactly the same twice.

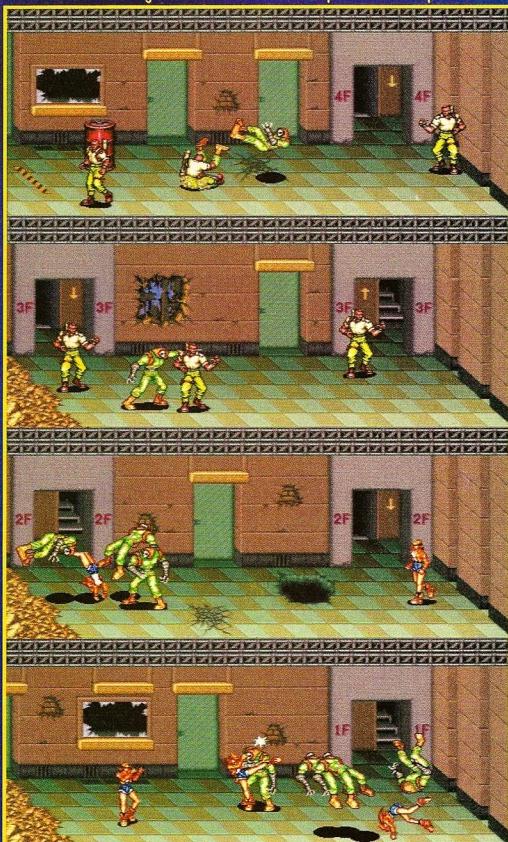

During the game, you will meet several characters. Make sure to pay attention to what they are saying for they may give you valuable information.

STORY MODE: HUGE LEVELS AND MANY ENEMIES!

Battle through the corridors of the Roy D. Tutto Hospital

Fight through all four floors of the hospital (map above). You can go back down to floors you have already visited!

EGM X-TRA DARE TO COMPARE A LOOK AT OTHER FORMATS...

In Japan, this series is called Rushing Beat. But in America it is better known as Rival Turf (top) and Brawl Brothers (bottom). Fans of Brawl Brothers will recognize Norton who is also in The Peace Keepers.

THE GOOD

A different kind of fighting game in that this one can't be done in one sitting due to its complexity.

THE BAD

Some of the Bosses and enemies pummel you with cheap hits that can't be avoided.

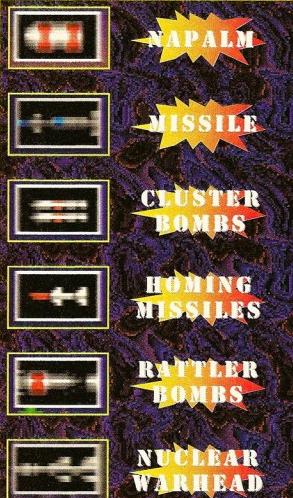

THE UGLY

At one point, fellow Peace Keeper Prokop gets squashed like a pancake.

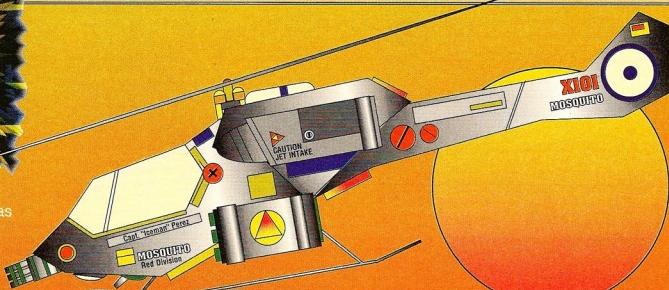

SUPER NES

Terrorism is running rampant. The Maghreb guerrilla force—known as the N.W.L. terrorist faction—has secretly accomplished a midnight raid on four strategic Allied peace-keeping strongholds along the Megrebian border. Many citizens were lost during the struggle, and some were taken hostage for use as human shields for the N.W.L. to deter any U.N. retaliation. Throughout the missions, you have to pick up the hostages and return them to your homebase while avoiding hard-core enemies. More lives will be lost if you and your copter don't succeed in saving the hostages.

DEVASTATING WEAPONS

A wide variety of enemies will attack you in different ways. By knowing the attack pattern of the enemies, you will be able to conserve your weapons and use them against the Mid-Bosses and the final Bosses. You have a limited supply of weapons, so use them wisely.

CHOPLIFTER

RESCUE

SURVIVE

Drop off the hostages at your homebase and repair your helicopter at the repair station where a mechanic awaits your arrival.

HELPFUL POWER-UPS TO PICK UP

CHAFF and FLARE

Confuses a radar tracking missile and distracts a heat-seeking missile.

LIFE

Find this green circular icon to give you an extra helicopter.

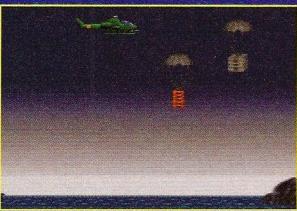

ROPE

Use this to save hostages where your helicopter can't land.

SHIELD

Provides a temporary shield during heavy attacks.

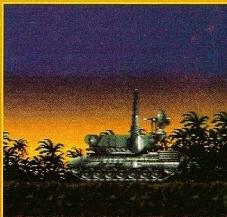

The way to get items and weapons is to shoot at crates that are being held by parachutes. The crates will be floating down from the sky; watch out for them. Don't shoot at the parachutes, because the crate will fall and the contents will be destroyed.

SECTOR 01 OPERATION BUSH BURNER

Fly through the jungle in search of your fellow friends who are in despair. Watch for foot soldiers and tanks shooting heat-seeking missiles.

SECTOR 02 OPERATION SAND STORM

Go above and below where the hostages are being held. Copters and bigger tanks will try to stop you and end the mission.

MANY ENEMIES TO DESTROY OR AVOID!

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN

Manned by a footsoldier. Evade by flying high over the shots.

Fires two anti-aircraft cannons. Evade by moving back and forth.

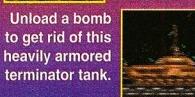

TWIN-CANNON TANK

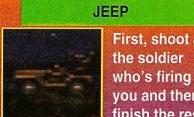

B. ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN

More damaging than the smaller version. Range is further, also.

TERMINATOR TANK

Unload a bomb to get rid of this heavily armored terminator tank.

JEEP

First, shoot at the soldier who's firing at you and then finish the rest.

ROCKET LAUNCHER

Soldier launching heat-seeking missiles. Use flare to avoid missiles.

FOOT SOLDIER

Not an easy target to shoot at. Only needs one shot to defeat.

HOVERCRAFT

Don't let the hostages down; use the password to continue later.

Destroy houses and buildings to reveal the hostages who are awaiting rescue. The prisoners need your help desperately.

Watch for enemy fortresses where many anti-aircraft guns are waiting to get you in their sights. Drop your arsenals on this base to destroy it.

THE GOOD

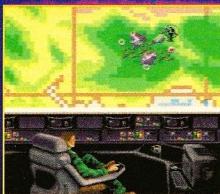

Lots of enemies throughout the game will keep you from snoring.

THE BAD

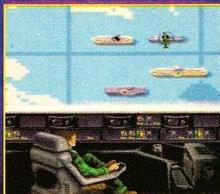

Losing the hostages in your copter when you die gets a bit irritating.

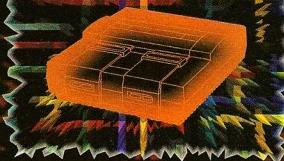

THE UGLY

I love destroying a single foot soldier with a nuclear warhead. Messy!

Before the missions start, the headquarters will show you a map of where you will attack the enemy and see your progress. After clearing a level, you'll see where you will be transported to.

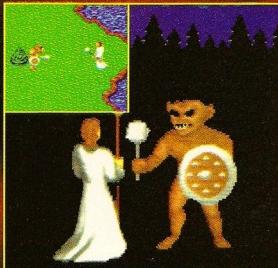

Welcome to the mystical world of SpellCraft, where your fate as a sorcerer rests upon your ability to conjure up magical spells and fight the never-ending battle against evil! Start your adventure as an initiate in the earth's domain, with only a staff and a mage's robe for protection. You are not alone—Garawayen, your mentor, will guide you and give you many clues throughout your journey. Selina, an apprentice in witchcraft, will also give you invaluable advice when it comes to collecting needed ingredients. Mix them together and create some magic spells to eventually conquer the masters of evil. There are many magical items to be found and secrets to be discovered as you set out on your journey to the four domains: Earth, Water, Fire and Air.

The Earth domain consists of two Bosses—a mid-Boss and a final Boss. To defeat them will take a lot of experience in the use of magic spells and wizardry.

THE GOOD

I like the unique way of mixing spells in the game—it puts a fresh aspect on an RPG.

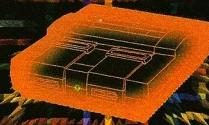

THE BAD

The graphics of the enemies, aren't very impressive, and the sound are repetitive after a while.

THE UGLY

It was a toss-up between the little beasties and Selina for this one. Can you guess who wins it?

SUPER NES

In the year 2097 life as we know it has ground to a halt. People do what they're told or they do nothing at all. Neo NY is run by a ruthless warlord named Raptor. Raptor runs the city for the global mafia.

Only two people stand in his way: an agent named Slash and his partner named Alix. Slash has the precious X-Kaliber sword. Raptor knows that he will never rule the city until Slash is out of the picture for good. He also knows that Slash's sword is better than his own and he hates him for it. Slash must fight through all of the minor Bosses to reach Raptor so he can end his reign of terror.

ICONS

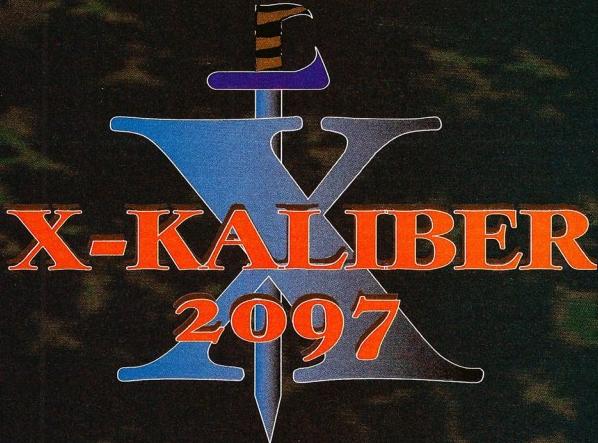

Icons like these can be found all over the game and will help you!

This icon will provide you with one free guy!

Munch a cheeseburger to restore some health!

Wash that burger down with a soda for health!

LEVEL 1

A down slash will be effective against this enemy. You can also follow it with a jab.

BOSS 1

This guy's name is Tattoo, because of the huge rose tattoo on his chest. The best way to beat him is to do a down slash and then follow it up with a jab to catch him off guard.

Jump up on the moving platform to find hidden icons!

VERSUS MODE

This option allows you to go head-to-head against your friends in some awesome battles using the Bosses.

This is Slash versus the second Boss Chainsaw in a battle to the end. Use your powerful sword thrust to kill him!

LEVEL 2

Now you have to find Kane so he can tell you where Raptor is.

This dude will come shuffling on the screen on Level Four. He'll fall down and then polymorph into a hideous monster.

These enemies in the red are a real pain! Not only do they attack with their hands, but they also get you with guns.

At the top of this building, you will have to fight two of these undesirables in order to reach the next part of the level.

THE GOOD

I really like the backgrounds and the way your guy controls.

THE BAD

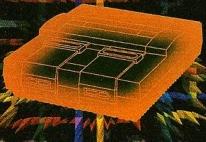

The way your character stumbles back when he is hit. It can sometimes knock you off of a building.

THE UGLY

How cheap the Bosses are on the hardest mode!

SUPER NES

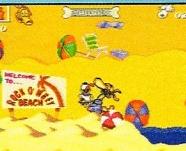

Nickelodeon, the network exclusively for kids, will be releasing a new cart for the Super NES featuring two of their own superstars straight out of TV land—Rocko and Spunky. If you're not familiar with the show, Rocko is your average run-of-the-mill wallaby, living in a world where everything that can go wrong will and does to poor Rocko and his crazy canine pet, Spunky. You begin your adventure at the beach—relaxing, taking a day off from the normal everyday rat race, just you and your loyal mutt Spunky. What could go wrong? Believe me, everything! As Spunky attempts to retrieve the frisbee, he wanders off into many dangerous areas filled with traps, pitfalls and even the occasional bad guy from time to time. Your job is to clear the way for your sidekick Spunky so he can make it to the ultimate goal—the golden fire hydrant. Just another dangerous day taken from the diary of Rocko's Modern Life. Good luck, mate!

When Rocko gets into one of his bad moods, he uses three methods of attack. He can either use a High or Low Punch, the Smashing High Kick or the Defensive Tail Sweep.

By picking Spunkey up, you can steer him away from any dangers he's heading toward.

Keep an eye out for the red fire hydrants. They serve as checkpoints for Spunkey.

Spunkey is a brave mutt, but he definitely does not like water. Watch his meter.

By using certain devices, you can help Spunkey move safely throughout the levels.

Each area is loaded with strange and unique everyday items, plus machines that go mad and turn on you and your partner. Sometimes a little thinking goes a long way!

THE GOOD

Awesome game! Great graphics, very challenging, more of a puzzle game than an adventure. Good job!

THE BAD

The control takes a while to get used to, and is so hard it can get frustrating at times.

THE UGLY

All of Rocko's enemies put together aren't as ugly as Rocko!

NBA JAM

Take to the court and go against a friend or the computer in what should be called the mother of all basketball games with NBA Jam! Based on the Bally/Midway version of the popular sports game in the arcades, this one is very similar! The control is excellent and the fact it is two-on-two makes it more enjoyable to play! There is also an option to allow four to play simultaneously! At times you can even perform superhuman feats like huge slam dunks from almost across the entire court! You can also catch fire and score almost every time! Constant commentary and 27 teams to choose from (with dynamic duos) take sports games to new highs! Realism is also part of the scene, for if you keep slam dunking on the same rim enough times, you can shatter the backboard!

OPTIONS AND SEVERAL UNIQUE FEATURES! NO RULES, BUT KEEP YOUR COOL AND CATCH SOME FIRE!

PENALTIES...

...not exactly! There are basically no rules in this game! However, you can get nailed for violating the Shot Clock (holding still with the ball too long) or Goal Tending (where you try to physically keep the ball from going through the net)! However, you never get penalized!

SUPERHUMAN FEATS?

At times you can do superhuman jumps and dunks!

"HE'S ON FIRE!"

Get three baskets in a row and the narrator will say you are "on fire!" This means every time you take a shot (no matter where from), it will most likely go in the basket (and the net will flame as it goes through). This will last until your opponent scores!

TAKE A BREAK—IT IS HALFTIME! CHECK SOME STATISTICS AND OTHER STUFF!

HALFTIME:

During halftime, you can obtain statistics on the game and even coaching tips as well! You will also be given individual player statistics that will give you the number of points scored, assists and other important information!

Skitchin', the radical new sport, is a combination of in-line skating and roller-blading. The skaters are not in it for the glory—they're strictly in it for the money! Skitchin' involves in-line racing on the freeway where almost anything goes—including you! If you're not careful, Skitchin' is definitely not a team sport; in fact, the only one that's going to be watching your back is you. So if you've got the guts and the ability, get ready to engage in some heavy-duty thrashin' on the open roads. Oh, by the way, it wouldn't be a bad idea to invest in some life insurance before you enter!

THERE IS NOTHING TO FEAR, BUT FEAR ITSELF!

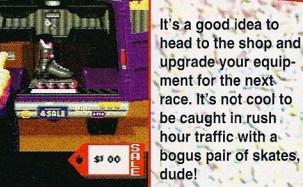

One cool feature is the multitude of options to choose from, including: five different game modes, button configuration, music selection and even a password feature.

There are many factors that determine the amount of money you earn after each race, such as how many cars skinned, how many opponents knocked down and even a trick bonus.

MASTER	ELIMINATING TIME POSITION
5-123	KICKED OUT
5-124	SKATEBOARD ATTENDED
5-125	COMPLETED
5-126	VEHICLES SKIPPED
5-127	500 SKITCHIN' $100
5-128	RACE BONUS
5-129	WEAPON BONUS
5-130	SNARE BONUS
5-131	SKILL BONUS
5-132	POLICE BONUS
5-133	TOTAL BONUS
5-134	TOTAL MONEY

It's a good idea to head to the shop and upgrade your equipment for the next race. It's not cool to be caught in rush hour traffic with a bogus pair of skates, dude!

The second part of this level is under water which is a real pain.

Eons have passed since mankind last heard of the evil machine. Now, after hundreds of generations, the forces of evil have assembled once again. In a sweep of terror, the evil machine has destroyed many planets and has enslaved millions of people.

The only thing that stands in its way is the USS Freedom Forces. Led by Bren Guier, they will try to save the lost souls. He slips into his Turrican assault suit and launches himself into the ultimate challenge. It is up to you to take Bren through this, and save the universe. This game has a lot of different weapons and modes of attack. So suit up and get ready, this is a blast!

THE GOOD

The game's colors are very bright and intense. The graphics are clear and the variety in levels is welcome.

THE BAD

There are too many "cheap" shots in this game. The mandatory hits are enough to make you scream.

THE UGLY

Your eyes will hurt after wearing the glasses included for any length of time. Play without them!

In the universe is threatened with extinction! An evil being named Vaprak threatens our very existence. Only special agent Jim Power has the skills needed to go to the Lost Dimension and stop this evil guardian. Using your laser gun, you will begin on foot through the Forgotten Path. Each level is a different adventure. You will also be able to use a jetpack, and a powerful spacecraft as you progress. Collect icons like Extra Time, Power-Ups for your weapon and Smart Bombs. Remember—keys open doors. In the spacecraft shooter scenes, you will man a powerful ship through the Never-Ending Cavern and Zig Zag 1, which is a speedtrap where you must guide your ship through treacherous scenes. When you encounter a Boss, you will have a special suit with a jetpack to help you maneuver better. Many agents have gone before you and not returned. What about you?

The field map and player stats are very handy when playing a passing game.

THE GOOD

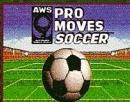

Great action! A good selection of teams and other options give this game great staying power.

THE BAD

THE UGLY

The voices. They make me do things. I can't escape them! They keep telling me to "Goal Kick."

If you think you can handle yourself on a basketball court, then Virgin has got the perfect game for you. Some of the best players from around the neighborhood are up for a little one-on-one. The big question is—are you? Slade, Chill and Roxy are the three hoopsters who are always chosen for pick-up games around here. You get to control one of the three in an eight-round tournament of one-on-one games with a different game type in each round. You slam against one of the other two players for each game and bet on the games until your wads of cash disappear. If you can outpsych and outscore your way through all eight rounds, you then go up against the court king—Judge—in a winner-takes-all game of his choice on his court. And if you don't feel like taking on all that competition, play with a friend to see who's the best. Remember play tough! When you get a chance, JAMMIT!

THE GOOD

Playing in eight different tournaments and the choice of different players sounds good to me.

THE BAD

Some major play control is just begging to be programmed into this cart.

THE UGLY

Having a 6'1" blond throw you to the ground just gives me a flashback of my dating nightmares.

JAMMIT

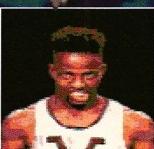

CHOOSE YOUR WARRIOR

JUDGE

The Judge excels in almost every category. He is a very tough competitor. Move fast and aim every shot to overtake his strength.

ROXY

Don't let Roxy fool you! She can take on the best of men. She's the best player at slapping long distance shots away from the basket.

CHILL

Chill is also adept at slapping shots away from the basket. He makes killer slams too. Chill ranks as one of the strongest players ever.

SLADE

You won't tire Slade out, because he has the best stamina. If you're built for speed, go with Slade. He also has good shooting and dunking skills.

UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL

This is your chance to show off your best moves and to make your opponents look like the chumps they truly are!

FAST-PACED GAME ACTION

You are headed for Jurassic Park. Your mission is to find the eggs of seven different species of dinosaurs. After you have collected them, you have to drop them off at the Visitor Center and put them in the incubator. Unfortunately, the helicopter you are taking to the island goes down—you survive the crash, but your life is still in danger. Salvage what you can from the remains of the helicopter and try to get to the Visitor Center. You must hurry to complete your mission because you only have 12 hours. So get ready to face the biggest bad guys from the world's ancient past—the dinosaurs!

LEARN ABOUT THE DINOSAURS!

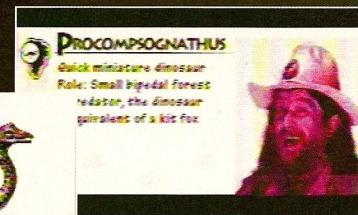

Throughout this game you will find signs that will explain everything you need to know about the dinosaurs.

These signs will give you information about the exhibits in the park.

A picture will accompany the explanation so you can see what each dinosaur looks like.

PROCOMPSOGNATHUS

Quick miniature dinosaur
Role: Small tropical forest reptile, the dinosaur equivalent of a kit fox.

This lively guy comes on the screen and gives you more information.

Search through the jungle, but try not to run into dinosaurs.

THE EGGS!

Find the eggs in nests and take them back to the Visitor Center to complete your mission!

Check inside this jeep to see if there is anything you can use.

INSIDE !

Once inside the building, search around for items that might be useful to you.

Go to the top of the stairs so that you can search the rest of the building. Remember to get anything that looks useful.

This door is at the top of the staircase. Try to open it to get to the Computer Center.

Once inside, access the computer to get information to use on your quest.

If you access the phone, you can talk to this scientist. Listen carefully!

TO THE PARK !

Your helicopter is down and your mission has just begun! Take what you can and hurry—you only have 12 hours to complete your mission.

The first thing you see after the wreck is a really big dinosaur!

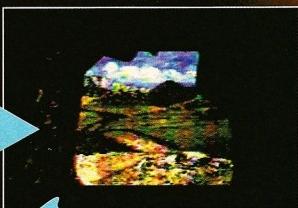

The famous sign will greet you as you enter this spectacular park!

This is the inside of the building. Search for useful items here.

The helicopter is in pretty bad shape. You are lucky to still be alive after that crash.

Go through this mountain tunnel in order to reach a different part of the mountain.

This road will lead you to the Visitor Center where you have to store the eggs.

THE GOOD

This game has some very impressive game play and the graphics aren't too bad either.

THE BAD

There are too many cheap hits you sometimes have to take in some of the levels.

THE UGLY

The belching dinosaurs in the water level were music to my ears.

CHUCK ROCK II Son of Chuck

EXTRA CHUCK

Collect this to earn an extra chance to play.

MILK BOTTLE

Chuck's health comes back when he drinks this.

Here's a new cavebaby in town and he's got a big club. Chuck Rock's kid has taken after his dad, causing prehistoric throughout prehistory! Son of Chuck has just found out that his dad has been kidnapped by some prehistoric bad guys—and they're mean, too!

Your task as Chuck Jr. is to rescue your kidnapped father, Chuck Rock, from his downright horribil archivist in business, Brick Jagger. To do so, you must complete the six different worlds (which are split into numerous zones) and the sub-games.

Chuck Junior has a large wooden club to help him through the game. With this, he can hit enemy dinosaurs and bash rocks a short distance.

SOME OF THE BONUS LEVELS

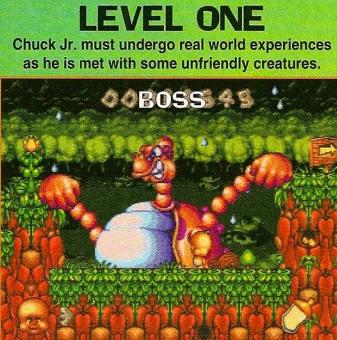

Remember to watch your step around prehistoric land!

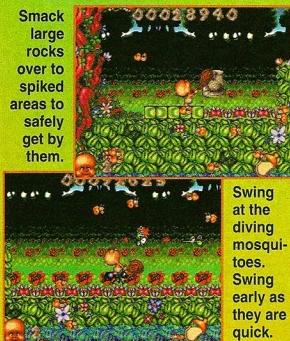

Get out of the giant dino's way and stay between his steps.

LEVEL ONE
Chuck Jr. must undergo real world experiences as he is met with some unfriendly creatures.

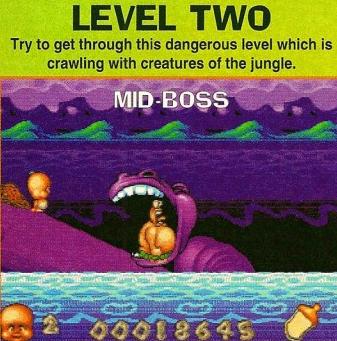

Swing at a fire hydrant to spray water on the baddies around you.

Smack large rocks over to spiked areas to safely get by them.

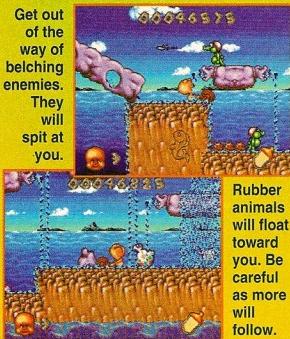

Swing at the diving mosquitoes. Swing early as they are quick.

LEVEL TWO
Try to get through this dangerous level which is crawling with creatures of the jungle.

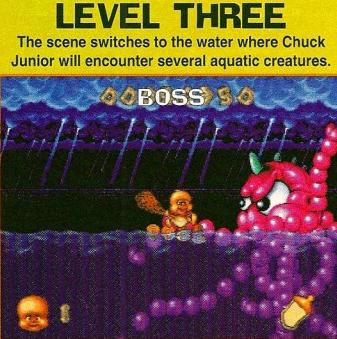

There's more than one way to get through a level. Try this way!

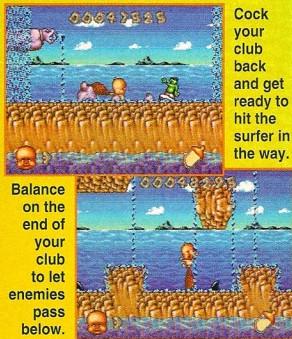

Get out of the way of belching enemies. They will spit at you.

Rubber animals will float toward you. Be careful as more will follow.

LEVEL THREE
The scene switches to the water where Chuck Junior will encounter several aquatic creatures.

Cock your club back and get ready to hit the surfer in the way.

It is the most treasured substance in the galaxy. It grants extended life, mystical powers and is used in folding space. It is known as Melange, or Spice. This spice is only found on one planet: Arrakis, also known as Dune.

You assume the role of young Paul Atreides. Your family House has been sent to Arrakis to harvest the Spice by Emperor Shaddam IV. You must send the Emperor shipments of Spice, otherwise you will be thrown out of power or worse yet...terminated.

You start the game searching for Gurney Halleck, a friend who will introduce you to the Fremen (indigenous inhabitants of Dune). The Fremen are your only hope for harvesting the Spice in time for the Emperor. They will show you how to survive the searing desert with special garments called Still Suits. They will also work for you and gather the treasured substance. In time, they will help you in the fight against the Harkonnens.

Dune CD is a great RPG. There's a voice for everything and the graphics are spectacular. There are even awesome effects for flying in an Orn! Totally cool.

THE GOOD

The intro is full-screen and directly from the movie. The Emperor's daughter is very attractive!

THE BAD

Having to wait through the Orn! sequences where you must find hidden Seitches.

THE UGLY

What's with Gurney Halleck? He looks like a mutated Jean-Luc Picard. What a face!

FLYING THE ORNITHOPTER...

The only way to get to the Fremen seitches is by Ornithopter. Otherwise you'll die.

At first there are only three known seitches to go to. Meet the Fremen ASAP.

NIGHT TRAP

Five teenagers have disappeared in the vicinity of the lake shore winery house of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Martin. S.C.A.T. Undercover Intelligence has determined that the teenagers were reported missing after spending the night as invited guests at the Martin's house. The Martins claim the missing teenagers left the Martin's home Sunday night. Police investigations failed to turn up any evidence of their whereabouts. The case is now turned over to S.C.A.T.

Your mission is to use the hidden surveillance cameras in the Martin's house to protect Kelly and the other teenagers from any danger inside the house. Switch cameras from room to room, following the teenagers and look for anything out of the ordinary. Use the traps that have been installed in the house to capture anyone or anything that may endanger the guests. Make sure you don't capture any of the teenagers or members of the S.C.A.T. team. Together with Kelly, you must find out what has happened to those missing teenagers and whatever else is going on in that house.

THE GOOD

Far superior than Sega's version, with more colors and better control. The times and rooms are the same.

THE BAD

The game is still not very interactive and once you beat it, there is no real reason to play it again.

THE UGLY

Wow! No rape scene or women on meat hooks. Maybe Congress had a different version of this game.

GENOQ BUILDING

Genoq has a top-of-the-line security system. However, it's all screwed up.

KEYS

Various key-cards are needed to get further in the building. Very useful.

TRACKER

They hit anything human with plasma blasts.

A deadly weapon.

ELECTRIC PLATES

These floor plates will fry you if stepped on. They turn on and off.

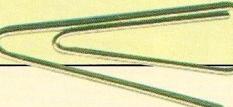

Plasma Barrier

This barrier can annihilate you with one step. It bars you from getting past it.

Something unspeakable has happened. A genetic lab has been overwhelmed by the biological monsters it has created. You are a courier who must deliver a package to the scientist who can stop the biological threat from destroying mankind. The only problem is getting to him! Not only are the Neogens (the experiments) on the loose, but the security systems have gone haywire as well. People are trapped and you must somehow find a way to save them.

D/Generation is an action game where you must travel from the 80th floor on up to where the scientist is. Not only are fast reflexes required, but puzzle solving skills are critical if you want to succeed. You must try to find the way to open certain doors plus locate keys, grenades and the laser pulse-gun. Can you save the human race from the deadly D/Generation?

THE DERRICA FILE

NAME:

Jean-Paul Derrica

BIRTHDATE:

MARCH 24, 1971

PERSONAL HISTORY:

Jean-Paul Derrica was brought aboard as head of the Genoq genetics project in their Biolabs stationed in Singapore. His latest project in a series of four is the D Generation. It is supposedly an advanced stage of artificial evolution, capable of neuro-holographic camouflaging and wearing a hide impervious to all known weapons. It was upon this project that Jean-Paul Derrica disappeared and the Singapore Biolab fell into disarray. His last message was an urgent call for the package that you now carry. Derrica's lab is on the 90th floor. Hopefully he will be alive to accept the package.

NEOGENS

Neogens are genetically engineered organisms. There are four types.

A GENERATION

The A Generation specimen is a red blob that absorbs its victim then explodes. It's the most common Neogen.

B GENERATION

Resembling a malevolent slinky, this blue Neogen likes to pulp humans with its body. Very fast and deadly.

C GENERATION

This Generation can transform into almost anything, and it decapitates its prey. Use caution with these.

D GENERATION

Top secret prototype. Unknown capabilities, singular in nature. All information on the subject is confidential.

D/GENERATION

ROOM FOUR

Room Four contains three important things. The first is one of the senior members of the Genoq Board. He will offer some important information. Then you can find a laser in the upper left-hand corner. A security level key is also found here. Use caution with the Tracker. You don't want the person to be killed.

FLOOR ONE: GENOQ BIOLABS

To elevate yourself up from the 80th floor to the 90th, you must work your way to tube-like teleporters. The teleporters are only capable of raising you up one floor at a time. These should be found at all costs! There is one in the back room.

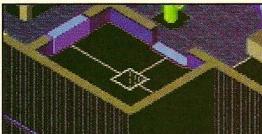

ROOM NINE

There's quite a devious trap in this room. A key is placed in a dead end, with Electric Plates sizzling on and off. You must figure out which switch opens up the door to freedom.

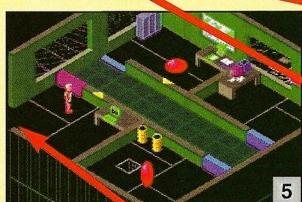

SURVIVING THE NEOGENS...

EGM TIP #014
You can blast the Neogens by bouncing your shots off of walls and objects. A good strategy to use from a distance. It keeps you safe.

Intelligence reports indicate that the Neogens have escaped from their stasis fields via the ventilation ducts. To properly rid yourself of these critters, close every duct you see. This should shut them off from the rooms.

ROOM SEVEN

This somewhat hidden room contains a hand grenade. It is worth finding. Watch the Tracker.

THE GOOD

This is the type of game that takes time to get into the story. It's gloomy—just the way I like things.

THE BAD

The control isn't as refined as I would like. Dodging the plasma thingies gets way too tough.

THE UGLY

Call me mad, but don't you think that being absorbed by a pulsating blob is a little bit weird?

CYBERMORPH

The Jag is out on the store shelves at last! Will this be the future of video gaming? Who knows, but it really started out on a good note with its pack-in game, Cybermorph! Unlike most polygon games currently out on the market, this title has a full 360 degree landscape filled with mountains, buildings and other terrain that you have full mobility to fly through, not just a straight-on course slightly veering to the left and right. This type of play provides strategic value rather than simply a blast-a-thon. You need to carefully dart about enemies, and choose when to launch an attack. Your ship can morph into many different hull shapes, depending on the direction you are going and what weapons you are selecting. There is also your co-pilot Skylar, who gives you advice (sarcastic as it may be) on what to do. And if you feel there are only a few planets to visit, you're dead wrong! There are over 50 different worlds to explore, and several hidden worlds that can contain tons of power-ups, and sometimes a deadly trap! An impressive entry onto the system that shows off its capabilities!

EGM X-TRA DARE TO COMPARE
A LOOK AT OTHER FORMATS...

Both StarFox and Cybermorph have great polygon graphics but StarFox is limited in where you can go. Cybermorph also has great light-shading effects to really wow your friends. StarFox just can't compare.

THE GOOD

The beautiful polygon landscape of the 50+ worlds make this the show-off piece of what the Jag can do!

THE BAD

For starters, some music tracks and some more cool things, ie. unique Bosses, would improve this title.

THE UGLY

Thank you Atari, for I can no longer sleep at night because I constantly hear Skylar saying "Well... Done!"

You must make way for the Earth colony ships by clearing out any hostile forces. Your ship is an advanced prototype that can hold its own on any battlefield. Travel through a wide variety of alien worlds in search of the final home for mankind.

Four kinds of power-ups and three levels of each make this game an intense one. This is also one of the few games in which you can use your thrust as a weapon. Just wait for enemies to get behind you and let it rip to burn them up! This game isn't a cakewalk. The levels get harder and harder as the screen becomes filled with more and more enemy ships.

THE GOOD

This game has cool graphics and music plus lots of firepower.

THE BAD

The backgrounds on the game could use a little work—some really cheap hits take place, too!

THE UGLY

The way the first level Boss throws his brain at you! Big blobs of grey matter fly everywhere.

LEVEL 1

In this level, you will soar through the clouds while dodging huge flying dragons and other similar vermin.

In this game, the enemies fly at you from all sides so your back blast can be very useful. This also changes your speed.

The first Boss is similar to a turtle. Blow his shell off to kill him.

BIG BLAST

If you let your laser charge for a little while, you can release a blast of energy!

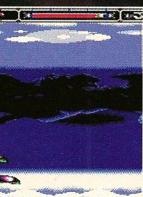

LEVEL 2

alfred chicken

Alfred's eggs have been stolen by Meka Chicken. You play as Alfred, the courageous klucker and you need to go find Meka Chicken—a blob with a vacuum cleaner head. The Meka Chicken has different forms and comes after you every couple of levels. Once you find him, you need to destroy him and get your eggs back. This game is full of fun and interesting things to do. The levels are pretty cool looking and the enemies are weird. Destroy enemies by performing a dive-bomb attack which, if done long enough, turns you into a rocket. Then you can plummet through things.

The balloons must all be popped in order to complete the level.

If you dive-bomb for long enough, you turn into a rocket.

This is the Bonus Stage. Get all the packages, and you get a free life.

Ouch!!! I feel sorry for that poor mouse Alfred just smashed.

This is the first level of Alfred Chicken. It is pretty easy once you get used to killing the enemies with your dive-bomb.

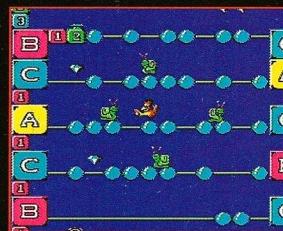

Collect all the diamonds. If you get enough, you'll get a free life.

LEVEL 2

The water section of this level is pretty tricky. Maneuver carefully.

Level 2 is also easy. After you pass the level, ride in a ship and fight a Boss with bullets. Beat him and move on.

Here you see our hero picking his toes. Watch out for the snails!

This is the Level 2 Boss. He is easy to beat if you develop a fighting pattern.

THE GOOD

This game is actually pretty fun. It makes you use your head (no pun intended). A good Nintendo game.

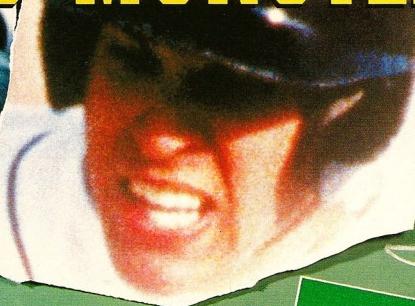

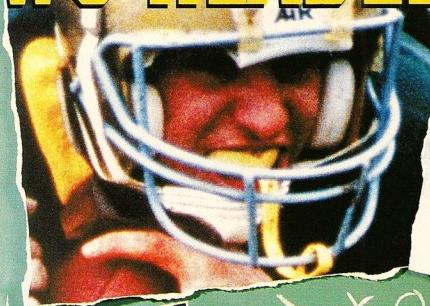

THE BAD

Control is a little unusual, but for the most part it is tight. More of a challenge would've been nice.

THE GOOD

This is a very fun and whimsical game. Fighting Bosses in a pinball game is pretty cool, too!

In the future, the mother of all battles will take place between man and machine. Well, between half-man and half-machine. RoboCop vs. The Terminator has already hit the Super NES and Genesis systems, and now it is on the Game Gear. The levels are basically identical to the Genesis version, with the bloody demise of opponents included.

The story concerns RoboCop's efforts to destroy Skynet, a giant computer conglomerate that will ultimately start World War III! RoboCop uplinks himself to the OCP computer and regenerates himself in the future. The menacing Terminators are not the only enemies of RoboCop here: there are some human foes who will shoot at him with a variety of firearms and other deadly weapons. Each level involves horizontal and vertical scrolling with a tough Boss at the end of each! To give RoboCop an edge, there are several weapons he can use, including Bazooka Launchers and Laser Guns! Hooray for the End of the Cold War

Virtual Reality for the masses moved a step closer when San Diego-based GreyStone Technologies demonstrated their Pteranodon Ride at COMDEX, held in mid-November in Las Vegas.

Initially involved exclusively in designing specialized software used in military aircraft and sophisticated air combat simulators, GreyStone has effectively "beaten their swords into plowshares" by transferring its cutting edge technology into a family of entertainment software that includes Auto Baron, Cyber Chess and Labyrinth Rangers.

Strange But True

Reading Beavis & Butt-Head

Like, welcome to EGM Lifestyles, huh huh huh.

"Yeah. Huh heh heh."

"Shut up, Beavis. Uh, do you know us?"

"We're like Beavis and Butt-Head."

"Yeah. Huh huh, we're cool. We live in this town and have crappy jobs and go to a sucky school with a bunch of morons."

"We're like their leaders. And like this book is all about that crap."

"I'm Butt-Head. Don't get yourself too hot looking at me standing in my underwear showing off, like, my tattoos. I know it's hard."

"This is me, Beavis. But if you're a chick you probably already know that."

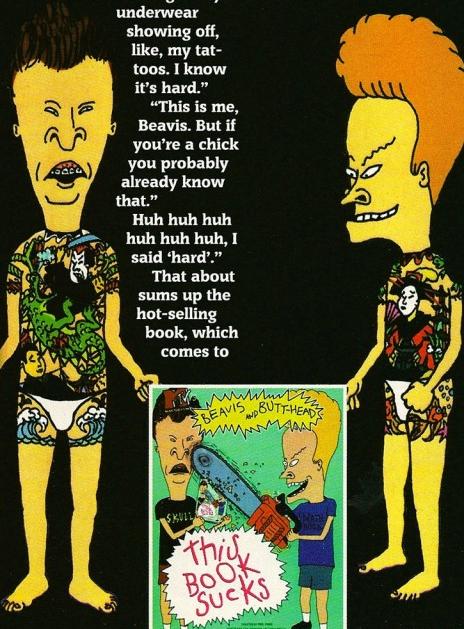

Huh huh huh huh huh, I said 'hard'."

That about sums up the hot-selling book, which comes to us courtesy of MTV's bad boys, Beavis and Butt-Head.

Appropriately titled, "This Book Sucks," it's a 10 dollar soft cover book created by Mike Judge and written by Sam Johnson and Chris Marcil that is selling as fast as, uh, like, uh, Metallica compact discs.

Seriously, if you don't have cable TV or haven't quite caught on to the Beavis and Butt-Head phenomenon, this book will give you a pretty accurate taste, good and bad, of what the bad boys are all about.

EA Sports Cards Could Be a Hit

It may be the start of something big. Then again, it may be a flash in the pan. But a new card set from EA Sports, that's right, Electronic Arts, has us intrigued.

The Official NHL '94 Game Card Set is comprised of 225 cards designed to complement the EA Sports video game. It's the first time we can remember a deluxe, full-sized card set made specifically for that purpose.

If you're not familiar with the game, each on-screen character is based on a real hockey player. Key attributes such as speed, strength, checking, agility and stamina are based on their real life counterparts.

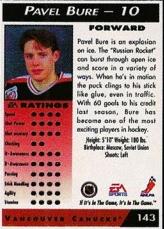

ious player ratings which correspond to their EA Sports game rating. For and are taken into account in depicting the video game skaters.

The front of the cards feature an action picture of the player while the back provides traditional background info on the player that is normally found on regular sports cards.

What makes the back of the cards unique is the var-example,

Vancouver's

fast skater with a hard shot. Those attributes can be readily found on the back of his card.

For that reason, this card set is more than, well, a card set. It's actually a little database of information that also provides an extra element of realism to their already great games by providing an action photo of each character depicted in the game.

Furthermore, there are also special designer tip cards that give insights from the guys who designed the game!

From the slick packaging to the useful information, EA did a nice job with this set. Hopefully it sets a precedent that other game companies will follow.

Then again, a Mortal Kombat or Street Fighter II card set featuring the same type of information with some cool original artwork on the fronts probably wouldn't sell...NOT!!!

By the way, where's the Madden set?

Midwest Street Fighter II Tourney

Another sign of the times is the video game tournaments that seem to be popping up everywhere. Although such tournaments have already received major event status in Japan, they're just starting to pick up steam in the U.S.

One upcoming event is The Midwest Super Street Fighter II Tournament, which is being held March 26 at 3pm at Super Just Games in Northbrook, IL.

Rules for the contest include:

- A $5 entry fee for all contestants.

- The tournament will be set as double elimination. All contestants will start in the winner bracket. If a player loses the match, he/she gets moved to the losers bracket.

- Play will consist of two out of three matches; semi-finalists will play three out of five matches and finalists will play best of seven matches.

Image Comics Continues to Evolve

The comic book industry enjoyed its best year ever in 1993. But with such rapid growth, comes change. And no single company better reflected the changing face of the comic industry than Image.

In the latest news from Image, Jim Lee is launching a new sub-imprint within the Image Comics line entitled Wildstorm Productions. Wildstorm Productions will market and oversee production and creative development of all of Jim Lee's titles currently trademarked under Aegis Entertainment, Inc.

"During the startup of Image Comics, I incorporated my business activities under the name Aegis Entertainment. As Aegis grew and the marketplace changed, I decided a new name would more accurately define the nature of the titles we produce and my commitment to the retailers and fans to create the very best comics possible. The Wildstorm Productions name and logo will quickly identify all products from my studio," Lee said.

In conjunction with the new name, the studio has made some changes to ensure timely shipping of titles. Former DC editor Bill Kaplan has been brought on board to oversee production and scheduling of books, while computer artists Ben Fernandez and Joe Dunn have joined the staff to allow greater quality control and faster turnaround of separations.

Ninjak Hits #1 Spot for Valiant

Up and coming comic book publisher Valiant Comics got some good news when its book, Ninjak #1 hit, number one for November according to market reports from Capital City, Diamond and Heroes World. It's not a surprise—the book really does stand out above the crowd.

This marks the first time that Valiant has published a month's #1 book.

"Frankly, I'm thrilled to have had the opportunity to work on a #1 book," said series writer Mark Moretti. "Joe Quesada and Jimmy Palmiotti did a terrific job on it. The story I wrote was solid, but they certainly put a lot of drama into the rendering of it.

When I found out we had made it to #1, I was a very happy sort of shocked."

Valiant publisher Steve Massarsky said, "This is exactly what we're trying to do here at Valiant."

"I think the cover enhancement really juiced the sell-through," said Jon Hartz, Valiant's senior VP, who offered some of the most substantive comments on the title. "The wrap-around chromium cover works on this book because the art was created with the enhancement in mind. We keep hearing from retailers who tell us readers were blown away when they saw the cover. But it's not the cover that will bring readers back for issue #2. Unlike most cover "gimmicks" on the market these days, the strength of this book lies in the story."

This month in HERO

Aliens vs. Predator: Lost in Space?

With the announcement of Alien 4, the long awaited crossover is back on hold

When Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. announced it was doing a fourth Aliens film, it was a bittersweet announcement for sci-fi fans everywhere.

On one hand, genre fans now have another big budget sci-fi flick to look forward to. On the other, however, it casts serious doubts on the prospect of a crossover film and puts the idea back into a black hole.

"Obviously it's disappointing," said Dark Horse Entertainment's Greg Lassen, who's a key figure in the development of other Dark Horse titles into feature films including The Mask starring Jim Carey and TimeCop, starring Jean-Claude Van Damme. "Aliens vs. Predator is a cool concept that works well in the comic. It would be great as a movie."

Dark Horse's Aliens vs. Predator comic has consistently been one of their best-sellers. In fact, the strong concept and story lines in the series have propelled rumors about a cinematic crossover since the book's inception in 1989. "The pairing was such a natural one," said Dark Horse executive editor Randy Stradley. "It was a wonder it hadn't been the first character vs. character idea to occur to us."

Four years later, it's evident what a major coup Dark Horse pulled off in getting Fox to agree to do the comic. Development of the feature film never got beyond a few possible scripts, and the dismal showing of Alien 3 at the box office nearly killed a franchise that James Cameron elevated almost single-handedly.

One of the hottest rumors for an Aliens/Predator crossover came from screenwriter Pete Briggs, who was rumored to have delivered a finished script to Fox in 1991. Briggs felt that if a decent crossover film was produced, new life

Josh Whedon, 29, who formerly was a writer on Roseanne and also penned Buffy the Vampire Slayer, is being tapped for the project.

No story line has been set, but the basic premise of Alien 4 will be a continuation of the story line set forth in the first three pics.

The first Alien flick took place aboard an orbiting ship and a mining colony on being considered involves the aliens coming to earth while another possibility has the action set on the alien's home planet, which up to this point has yet to be seen.

Since Sigourney Weaver's talented acting was one of the few bright spots in Alien 3, and was also the only remaining character (besides the Alien) to tie the

So you say you've been waiting for the long-rumored Aliens vs. Predator film? Sorry Charlie, your wait will probably last into the next century as Fox recently announced preproduction on Alien 4.

would be injected into both franchises that nearly everyone felt had been jeopardized by the strange directions taken in Alien 3. Many felt that Fox would then have the luxury of continuing both series indefinitely, either together or independently.

In spite of Briggs' vision and Dark Horse's success with the comic, the Aliens vs. Predator movie script has been put in mothballs. That doesn't mean the film will never happen, but you probably won't see it before the turn of the century.

In the meantime, Fox is revving up production on the Alien 4 script.

a remote planet.

In the second film, a military team was sent to rid the planet of the aliens.

Alien 3 was set on a desolate penal colony with the series' main character infected with the Alien menace. All three films set up possible story lines for Alien 4, although many felt that the elimination of both Newt and Hicks, supporting characters from the second movie, was unnecessary and eliminated a possible successor to Sigourney Weaver's Ripley character.

According to details from Fox, which can be described as sketchy at best, one plot first three films together, it's no surprise that Fox is wooing her to reprise her role as Ripley.

Some would like to see Weaver return, hopeful to see the third episode be nothing more than a bad dream, while others want to see a new story with a fresh start.

That in itself is a tricky proposition, as Ripley was killed in the last film. But undoubtedly, Fox will figure out a way to explain the reincarnation, as the Dark Horse comics make it clear there are too many cool stories left untold about the extraterrestrial warriors.

T.M.N.T. Tournament Fighters

Super NES Konami

Extra Speed Setting

Enter the Konami code at the Title Screen on controller 2: UP, UP, DOWN, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT, LEFT, RIGHT, B, A.

Hey! Are you tired of the two speeds that are available in TMNT: Tournament Fighters for the Super NES? Well, with this code you can add on a third speed to the menu in the Options Screen! To do this, enter that all too familiar Konami code with controller 2. At the Title Screen, (using the second controller) enter this code as follows: UP, UP, DOWN, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT, LEFT, RIGHT, B, A. You will then hear Aska's voice. Now, bring up the Options Screen and set it to the third speed for a fast fight!

Cyber Shredder dashes at Donatello and takes him head-on!

Enter the code correctly and you will hear Aska's victory word.

Go to the GAME SPEED option and you have a new faster speed!

Aska teaches Wingnut a lesson in the way to quickly do a Whirlwind!

Leonardo hits Mike with his Endless Screw faster than he can blink!

Wingnut and Mike battle it out—and completely miss each other!

The faster speed even works in the game's Story Mode!

Don't fight too fast—you may Double KO each other!
